Couples take time out for refreshments at the annual GAA dance. The theme of the dance was "Three Coins In The Fountain."

Classes and activities stimulate the atmosphere we wouldn't be without. If these were missing, neither school nor students would function properly.

Teachers are lots of fun too; without them homework and big exams wouldn't exist, then neither would the fun or companionship we share together. This is GHS and we like it here.

Rush, 'Steady,' Fads Were Fun

Matching shirts and sweaters became popular with the steadies as Carol Artka and Don Harmon are demonstrating.

Between-class chats, mad rushes to the "short line" at noon, and the lending of pencil and paper are just a few of the things that stimulated a friendly atmosphere in the halls of GHS. Fads such as "steady" shirts and sweaters, textured stockings and matching blouses, knee socks and watch necklaces caught on quickly.

Going steady was another important fad. Some couples exchanged rings while others preferred just to go "steadily." Several different methods of wearing the boy's ring were in style. Some girls wore the ring on their left hand wrapped in angora or with a rubber band around it. Others preferred to wear their ring on a chain around their neck. However the newest fad was wearing it on a pin labeled "HIS."

Students display varying expressions as they hurry to their various classes.

Chuck Stulmacher proves to Pepper Reznik chivalry is not dead as he picks a flower for her.

'Staters,' Players Take Part In

GHS Activities

Drama Club experienced an active year by producing two major plays, "The Night of January 16th" and "Cheaper By the Dozen." Booster Club also experienced an active year by meeting once a week to make posters for the halls and by making new capes to meet the size of the growing club. GAA gave its annual turnabout dance entitled "Three Coins In A Fountain." Other clubs took trips to various places of interest, sponsored special projects, and heard several lectures.

Sports as usual produced an energetic and successful year. Among the varied sports are basketball, football, cross country, track, baseball, swimming, wrestling, tennis, and golf. Sports at GHS provide any boy with the chance to keep physically fit and are fun while doing it.

Attending the Yearbook and Newspaper Institutes at Indiana University this summer were respectively, Marcia Fountain and Pat Day, and Pat Hartley and Margaret Barnett.

Bob Smith employs skill typical of Griffith athletes.

'Uniqueness'

Describes GHS Classes

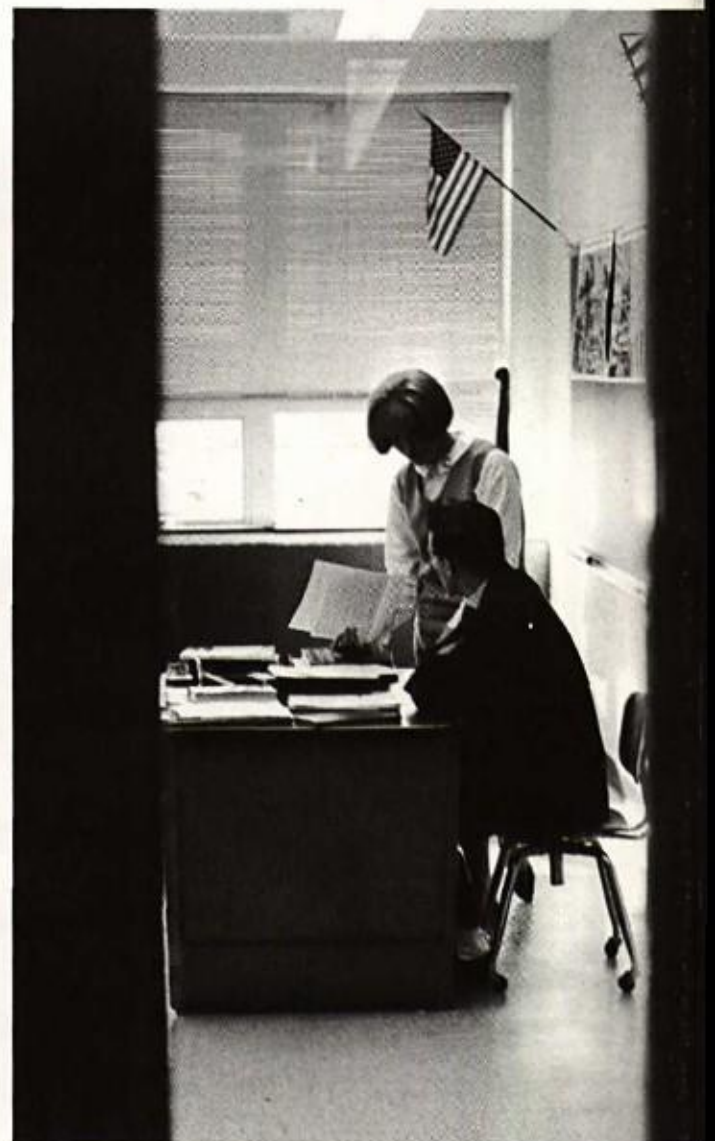

Mr. Ellis explains to Pepper Reznik how a complex problem can be solved with a slide rule.

Glenneta Heltsley gains valuable experience in making duplicates while working in the A-V room.

Teachers play important roles at Griffith High School. They sponsor clubs and special activities, but what is more important they strive to provide students with the best education possible. Most teachers supplement their own education in order to accomplish this. Many obtain their Master's Degree by attending night and summer school. It is not unusual for a teacher to spend many extra hours preparing interesting lessons for the next day's classes.

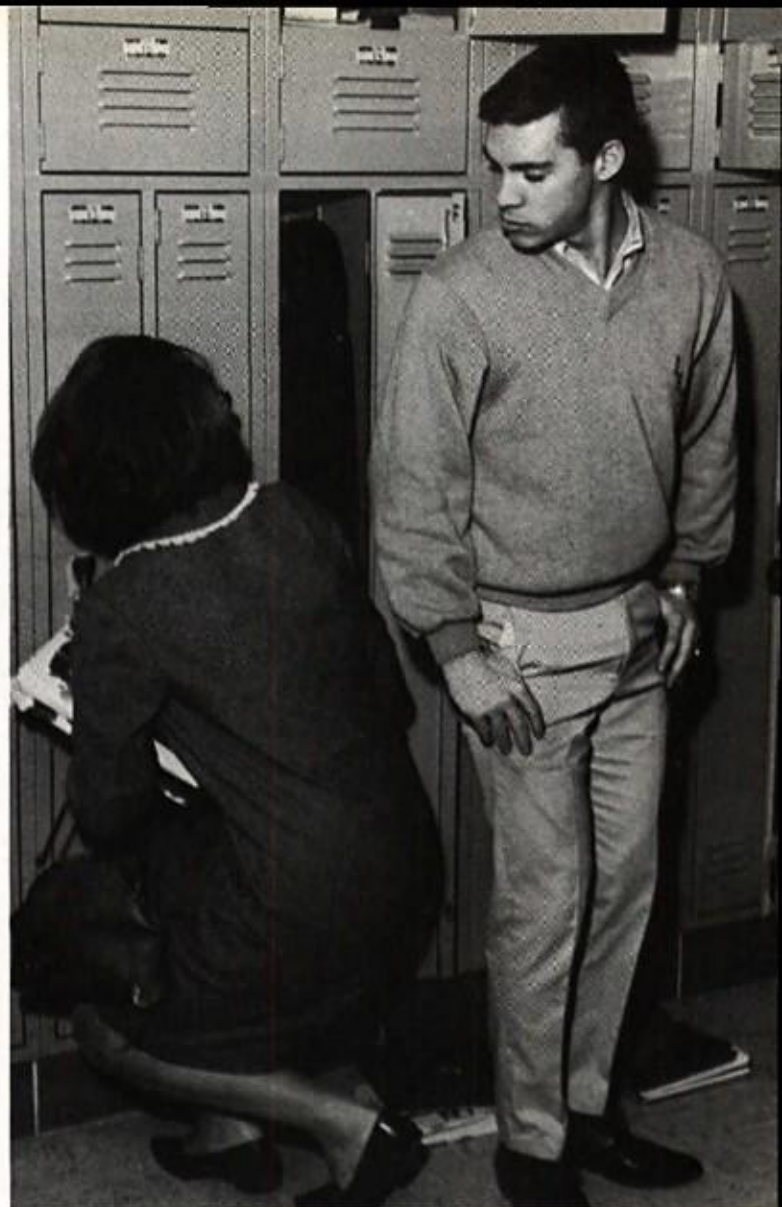

Classes are conducted in a unique manner at Griffith because most classes are held on an informal basis. Class and panel discussions are frequent occurrences also, but most students regard them as necessary evils.

Mr. Davis and Mrs. Ogle take a few minutes out of their busy routine to have a friendly chat.

Jenny Vadja Crowned 1965 Queen As

With "Pop Up a Victory," the senior class earned second place in the float division.

Classes' and clubs' floats, decorated cars, Alumni dance, a bonfire, the traditional parade, and the crowning of the queen all combined to make up the 1966 Homecoming festivities.

The traditional parade started the festivities. The different classes and clubs worked for weeks trying to come up with the best float or car. This year the Class of 1967 captured first place in the float division for their float. Class of 1966 cornered second. In the car division the Radio Club captured first with their car entitled "Bug 'Em."

Rain and cold weather didn't dampen the school spirit the night of the bonfire, as "Beat Indians" rang through the crowd.

Juniors Corner First With 'Spectin A Victory'

1965 Homecoming court and escorts Miligia Javanovich and Pattie Hartley, Larry Thrall and Carol Mercer, Larry Moore and Jean Godlewski, Bob Smith and Pattie Day encircle queen Jenny Vajda and Don Harmon.

Jenny Vajda expresses tears of disbelief as she is announced the 1965 Homecoming queen at half-time.

Class Of 1965

Produces 'Earnest' Successfully

"What!" exclaims Gwendolen Fairfax (Kathy Marlowe) and Earnest Worthing (Claude Wampler) to Lady Blacknell (Sherry Wilke).

"Your snuff, sir," says Chuckie DeNeal to Gary Riggs alias Algernon Moncrieff.

"Hold on a minute, buddy," says Earnest Worthing (Claude Wampler) to Merriman (Randy Black).

"The Importance of Being Earnest," the 1965 Senior play, proved a smashing hit. Gary Riggs, Kathy Marlowe, Claude Wampler, and Kathy Gryger played the lead roles.

"The Night Of January 16th" was produced by the Drama Club. The play was a courtroom drama in which the jury was made up of the audience. Members decided the fate of Karen Andre, played by Lana Hendrickson. Each night the verdict was not guilty.

"Well, if you want our opinion," Preacher Dick Ogle and Miss Prism (Linda Rygas) tells Cicely Cardew (Kathy Gryger).

Jury Decides Fate Of Karen Andre

"The Night of January 16th," a courtroom scene, was presented by the drama club in November.

"Why did you do it?" said Lana Hendrickson to Jeff Jordan as Lynn Swinger, Sheri Ellis and Pat Dagely look on.

"Your honor," exclaims Larry Thrall after Mark West objects. Mary Kay Westerfield watches with interest.

'Evening In Paris' Sets

Mood For Prom

"Evening in Paris," the 1965 Prom, set the mood for an unforgettable evening. Corky Teegargen and Holly Riggle performed their last official act as reigning king and queen by crowning their successors Dave Welch and Pat Hartely. Highlighting the dance was the music by Buddy Presnor and his Orchestra. The weekend was completed with the traditional beach party on Sunday.

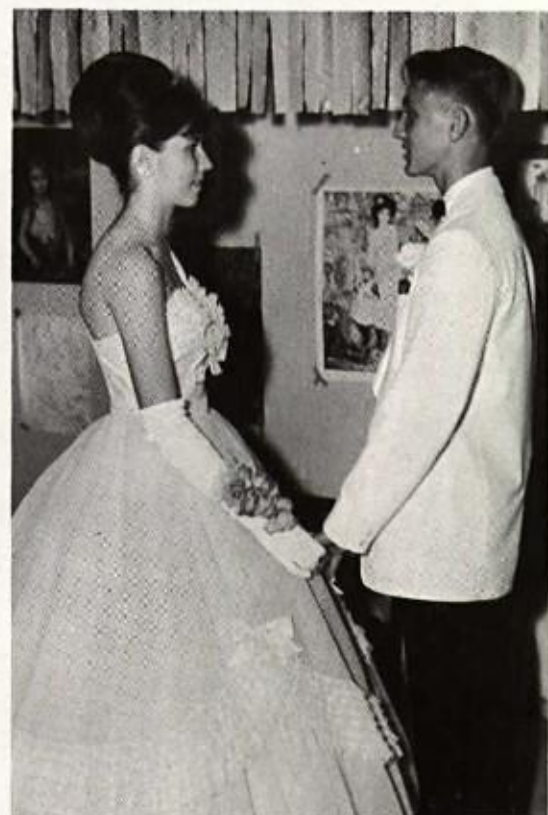

French paintings artistically arranged on the wall and sidewalk cafes with crepe paper awnings added to the already romantic setting. Because of the hard work and ingenuity required in planning the decorations, Carol Mercer, decorations chairman, was presented with a dozen white roses as a token of her classmate's appreciation.

Class Of 1965 Graduates

In 'New' GHS

Class of 1965 walks down the aisle of the auditorium as students of GHS for the last time.

Doctor Paul Schilling gave each of the graduating seniors his diploma.

Graduation for the Class of 1965 spelled uniqueness. The class chose to change the traditional color of robes from black to gold. It also had the honor of being the first class to graduate from the new school.

The graduation ceremonies were held in the auditorium with Fred Hanak and Jean Godlewski escorting the class down the aisle to their seats.

Reverend Hamilton was the main speaker of the evening. Following his address Mr. Sheely and Dr. Schilling also gave short speeches. Lynda Jens, Valedictorian, and Lida Rygas, Salutatorian, added to the evening with their short addresses.

Each student then walked on stage to receive his diploma, finding it hard to believe the toils and joys of his high school days were at an end. As the class advanced their last tossels, the door to a new life was unlocked and they walked out of the auditorium for the last time with their fond memories of GHS going with them.

Rev. Hamilton, St. Luke's Methodist Church in Indianapolis, delivered the main address.

Extra-curricular Activities Keep Students Busy,

Offer Variety, To Please Different Interests

Activities may be defined as what keeps the students going. They serve to break up the monotony of going to classes and doing homework, and also as a valuable part in our life. They prepare us for the future, and may even help us decide on what career to follow.

Here at GHS there are always plenty of things to do and places to go. Students enjoy the variety of activities offered and always hope they'll remain in great abundance.

Art Club members work on various types of artistic projects throughout the year. Barbara Pierce and Debbie Kasmak are found in the art room watching Gay Torbit sketch a colorful chalk scene.

On the move—Art Club. Yes, the members of the Art Club can truly say they earned the title "On the Move" this year. There was never a dull moment; plans were constantly being made for trips and other activities year round.

Art Club members visited many art exhibits around the Calumet area and made a long and lovely trip to Chicago in the spring.

On Saturday and many free days one could find restless Art Club members working on projects such as sculpture, ceramics, pottery, oil paintings, and several other "busy bee schemes."

Thanks to Mr. Ricks the Art Club sponsor, the club enjoyed an active year. Helping was co-sponsor Mr. Fultz.

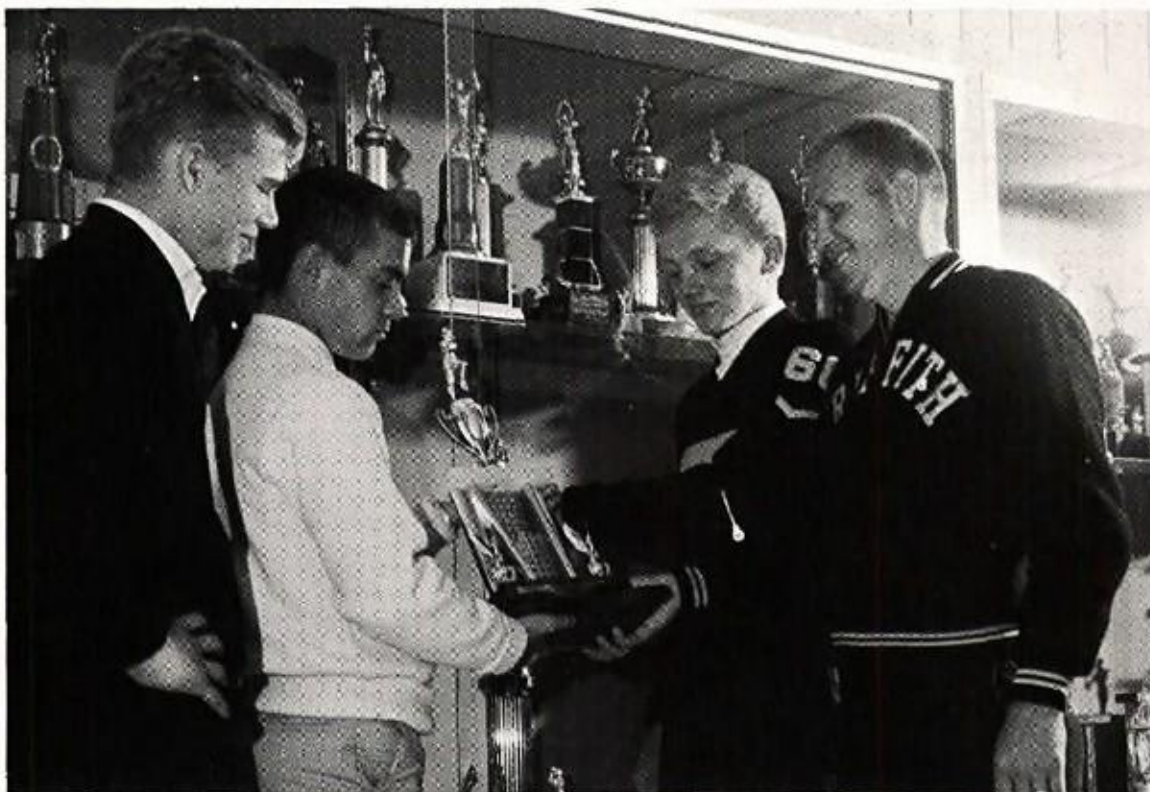

Lettermen See Pros In Action, Give Banquet

Activities of the Lettermen this year included program sales at home football and basketball games, a car wash to raise money, and a field trip to see a professional team perform.

Each year the Lettermen's Club has a share of the Homecoming festivities. This year the club nominated five girls as candidates for Homecoming Queen. The officers presented the Queen at half time of the football game and co-sponsored the dance after the game.

A banquet at Tieble's Restaurant honored outstanding sportsmen. Individual awards were also given.

Securing a major letter in sports automatically made a student a member of this year's Lettermen's Club. The purpose of this organization is to promote and create higher values among varsity athletes.

Lettermen can be proud of the trophies found in the trophy case. Bob Wilson, Dick Smith, Mike Schuttrow, and sponsor Thomas Kurth are getting ready to put the latest-won trophy in the case with the rest of the collection.

Reflector Staff Works On Book During Summer

Work on the 1966 Reflector began before the 1965-66 school year had even begun. Staff members spent a good portion of their summer soliciting ads from local merchants.

As school opened they discovered they had surpassed their goal of $2000. After they had completed their sale of ads, the staff next concentrated on meeting their first deadline. By setting aside two school days for the taking of club pictures, the clubs editor was able to work out a smooth-running schedule and plan her pictures. Underclass pictures were also taken in time for the first deadline, after which students received their identification cards.

Determined to make their next deadline, the staff doubled their efforts. Although the last week was hectic and included several night sessions, the deadline was met with the academic and part of the sports section going in.

For their next deadline they worked on the opening section which included school life, Homecoming festivities and the Prom. Several sport pages and the rest of the clubs section was also turned in.

All members sighed with relief as the final deadline, the advertising section, had been turned in.

In order to receive the proper training for the kind of work they would be doing on the yearbook, the editor-in-chief and the copy editor spent two weeks at Indiana University attending the annual Journalism Institute. Although it was a lot of hard work, the two staff members stated it was also a lot of fun and that they learned a great deal.

Finding Bonfire Space Posed Problem For Council

Student Council assumed the responsibilities for this year's Homecoming parade October 21. Prizes were awarded to the best floats and cars entered by different clubs and classes. They were also in charge of the bonfire after the parade, on the track around the football field. They also sponsored the bonfire dance for which records were sponsored.

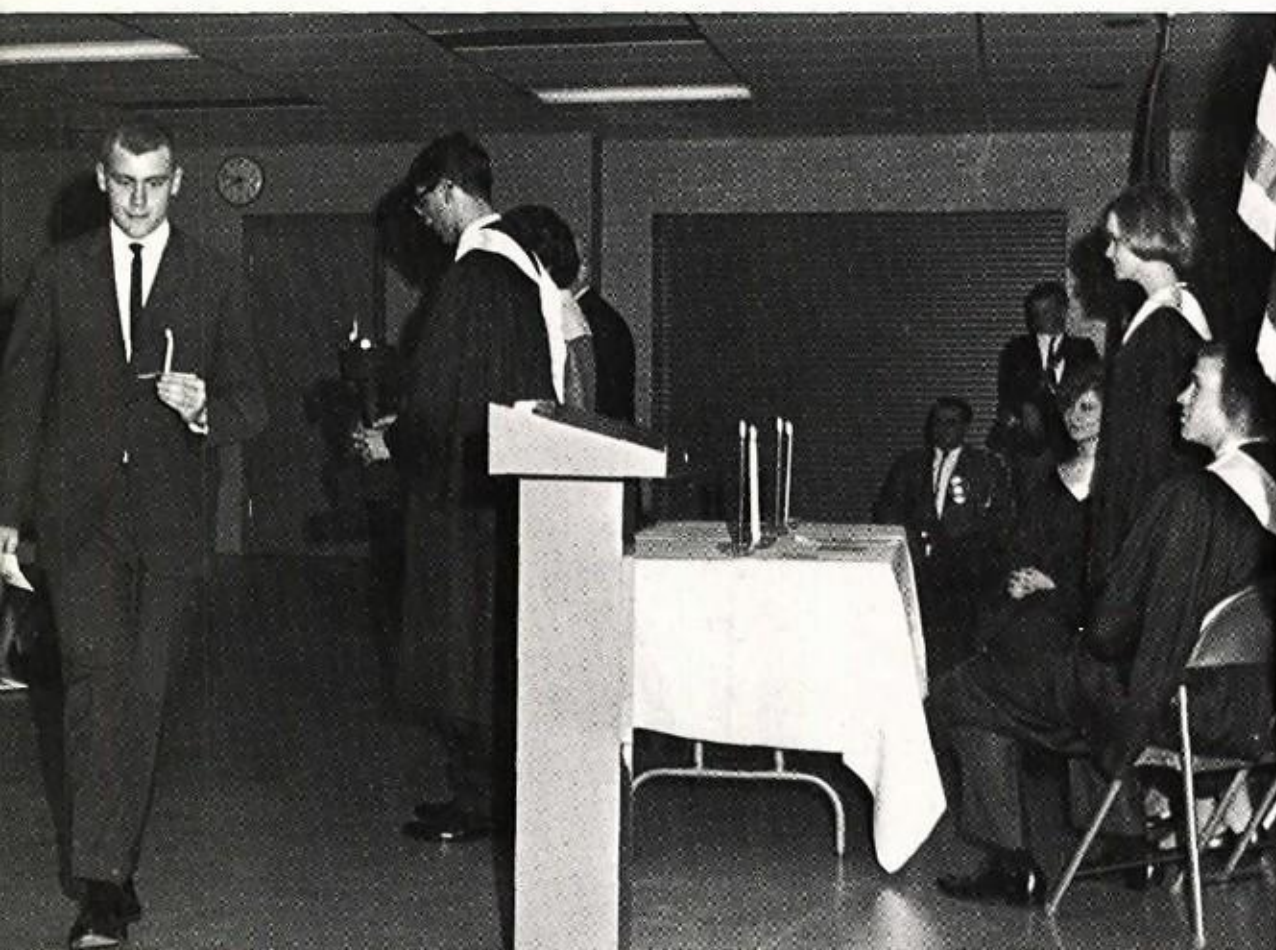

Scheduling assemblies and handling the talent show in March were two other major activities of the Council this year. The talent show was given for the student body and also at night for the parents.

In May, Student Council directed elections of class and Council officers.

Student Council is composed of one representative from each homeroom of each class. Its purpose is to take problems and suggestions from the student body to be heard in front of the administration.

Honor Society Sponsors 'College Breakfast'

A trip to see "Barefoot in the Park" at the Blackstone Theatre in Chicago followed by dinner headed National Honor Society's list of activities. Tutoring students and operating the bookstore were also on the list of activities for the group.

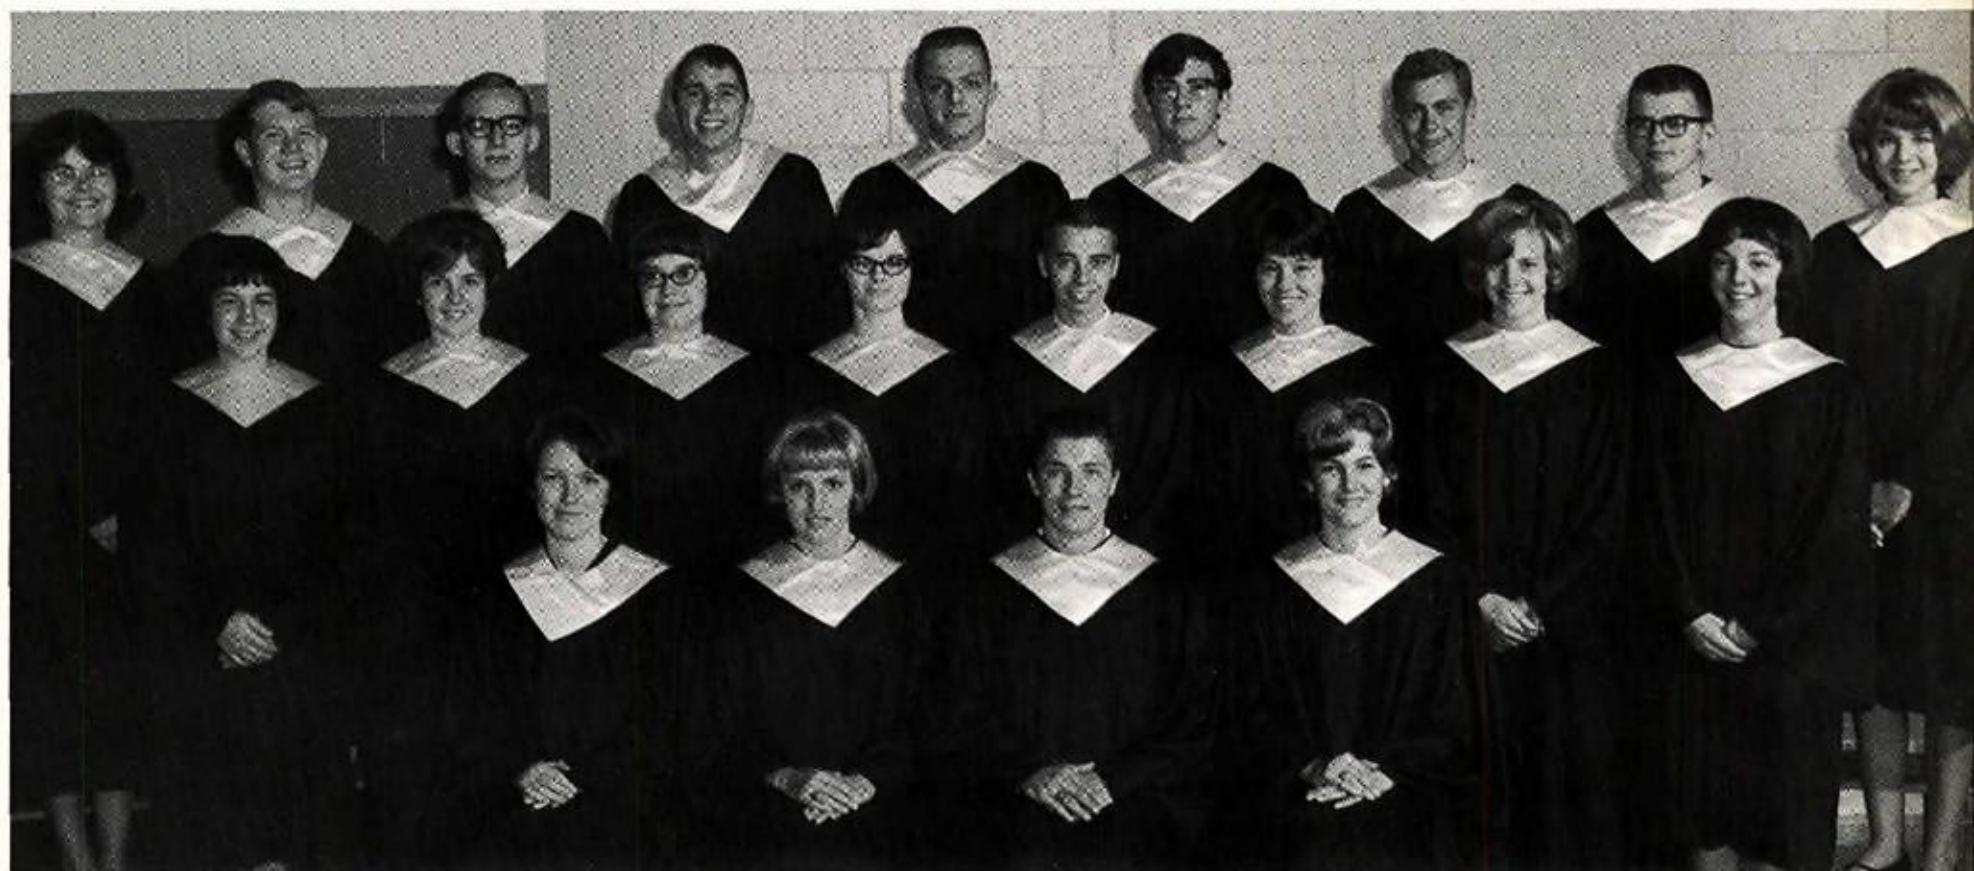

At the annual "College Breakfast" in December, Honor Society attempted to stimulate a greater interest in further education, by having college students and representatives present to answer questions and tell about college life in general.

In the spring, Honor Society had its induction of new members. Only those with a B average were eligible to join.

Creating enthusiasm for scholarship, promoting leadership, and stimulating the desire to render service, were the main goals of Honor Society this year.

SECOND ROW: Carol Mercer, Jean Godlewski, Jenny Vajda, Norma

Girls enjoyed an active year in GAA by participating in the various activities.

GAA Tournabout Stimulates Enchanting Moments

GAA can really be considered an active club. Members are required to earn at least 20 points in a semester.

Awards were given according to the number of points each girl earned. These awards include pins, numerals, chevrons, and letters.

GAA members also participated in such activities as basketball and badminton play days, a bowling tournament, and state-wide tumbling contest. They also organized interscholastic volleyball and basketball.

Perhaps one of the highlights of the year was the annual semi-formal dance given in the gym. "Three Coins in a Fountain" was the 1966 theme which was carried out in the colors light and dark green and white. A two tier fountain highlighted the stage decorated by the seniors. Couples danced to the music of Florian Bolesga.

Staff Members Used 'Passes'; Recorded Stories

The Panther Press, being a bi-monthly edition, required much organization and hard work before it came out. Stories had to be hunted-out and assigned, colorful headlines were written, and all things had to be copyread two or three times. Ideas for new columns were constantly worked on as the page editors strove for variety. Editors also kept an accurate record of all stories turned in.

The business staff solicited ads from local merchants to help pay for the cost of printing the paper. This alone was a time consuming but rewarding job.

Most of the work on the paper was done in publications class as staff members used their 'press passes' to gather information for stories and for running various errands.

In December the Panther Press sponsored a soc-hop. By charging 15¢ over the regular price, the Panther Press was able to serve potato chips and pop. The "Dimensions" provided colorful music.

Knowledge Of Customs Marks Language Club Goals

Gab sessions are fun any time, but things really get interesting when the gab sessions are in a foreign language as this year's the Modern Language Club found out.

To belong to Language Club, students must have taken or be taking a foreign language.

This year the club's main goal was to stimulate in it's members an interest in foreign languages as well as a knowledge of foreign customs and cultures.

'Night Of January 16th' Highlights Dramatists' Year

Drama Club produced two plays this year. The first one was for all the members of the club and the second one was just for senior members.

The play "The Night of January 16th," given by all members, was a modern courtroom trial with the audience as the jury. It was given November 12 and 13 in the auditorium.

The senior play "Cheaper By the Dozen" was given March 4 and 5. To provide more members with the opportunity to participate in the play, it was double cast.

Early in the year the club held it's annual election of officers. Betsy Beiriger was chosen to lead the club, Karen Graffee was elected vice-president, and Pepper Reznik and Mary Kay Westfield were elected treasurer and secretary respectively.

Purpose of Drama Club is to introduce students to the theatre. Members are concerned with style, make up, scenic design, construction, lighting, costume style, and acting.

Field trips were taken to Indiana University, Gary, to see a stage play by college students. The club also accepted an invitation from Valparaiso University to see one of it's presentations.

Adding improvements to the greenhouse occupied most of the time of Horticulture members. A new watering system, repotting plants, and white washing windows to filter light were among the improvements. Several plants of varied types and sizes were added to the club's large collection. Several field trips were also on the agenda for activities. Horticulture members visited Chicago flower shows and also attended lectures.

Tools and test equipment for repair work were purchased through the sale of ice cream at noon. Members have repaired radios and televisions which were donated to the club by outside sources.

Math, Science Club Traveled To Laboratory

A trip to Argon Laboratories in Chicago provided Math and Science Club members a chance to expand their knowledge in the field of science. Members taking the trip were provided firsthand information about laboratory procedure, and they learned the specific job of each of the personnel working in the laboratory.

New members also learned how to operate the complicated computer made by previous members.

The club also sponsored the annual Science Fair in March. Prizes were awarded for different categories of science and each winner was then entitled to go on to the regional fair.

Math and Science Club strives to further the knowledge of the members in these areas and at the same time create interest in particular phases of those fields.

"This is necking?" A penny was collected for every inch of neck of all who attended the Y-Teens' "Necking Dance." Laura Barker and Nancy Grugel are measuring the necks of Janet Cox and Diane Holom.

Purpose of Y-Teen is to create friendship among not only girls from this school, but from neighboring schools as well.

This year's Y-Teens fulfilled that purpose in many different ways. An initiation dinner was held in Hammond and neighboring schools such as Highland, Dyer, Hammond High, and Morton were invited to attend. Griffith girls were the hostesses and after the dinner they gave a pajama party.

Another highlight in the year was the shopping spree to Chicago just before Christmas. This gave the girls a chance not only to do their last-minute shopping, but it also provided them with an opportunity to see the many decorations in the stores.

Meeting on the first and third Mondays of each month, FTA experienced its largest membership as members heard speakers and panel discussions on various fields of teaching. In the fall they attended an area conference at South Bend, and in the spring, the state convention.

Serving coffee and milk after setting up food tables for the farewell dinner for Dr. Schilling was the volunteer work of these FTA girls. They are Sandalee Schultz, Diane Holom, Carol Mercer, Karen Murray.

Booster Club was led this year by Bonnie Bonie, vice-president; Jenny Vajda, president; Jannice Gorley, secretary; and Sheila Townshend, treasurer.

Booster Club Cheers Teams On To Victory

The halls were decorated this year with a variety of posters made by Booster Club members. Linda West and Bonnie Strauser are seen hanging posters to boost the team to victory.

Promoting school spirit is the primary purpose of Booster Club. This year the Booster Club did more than fulfill its duty. Supporting the boys during every game until the very end, victory or defeat, the Booster Club was always there, screaming with the cheerleaders and showing pride in their school.

Membership was open to any Griffith Senior High student. This year's Booster Club consisted mostly of active members who attended games and meetings regularly and helped promote school spirit. Students were considered active members when they had earned 50 points or more. These were earned by cheering in the Booster Club section, making posters, and attending meetings. These points determined eligibility for sectional tickets and also qualified members to receive pins. Because this system was put into practice this year, 75 points were required of any junior or senior wanting a pin and 200 of any sophomore and all future members.

Mass meetings were called whenever necessary by President Jenny Vajda, with the approval of Miss Klein, sponsor.

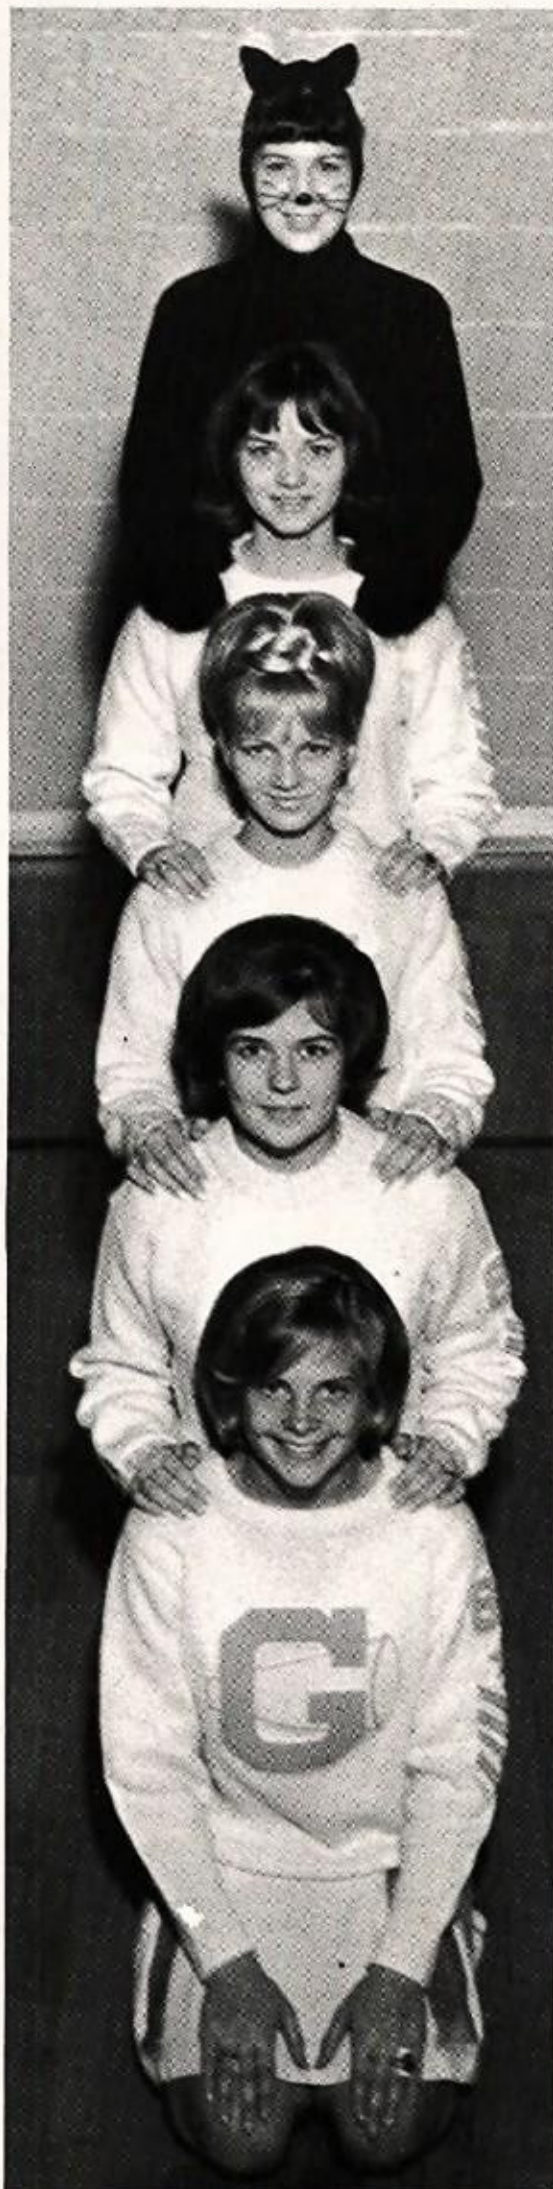

Cheerleaders' Spirit Reflects On Student Body

Beginning this year cheerleaders were elected for only one year and had to try out again the next spring. Four varsity cheerleaders were elected by the student body to lead the cheering section at varsity football and basketball games. A Panther mascot was also elected to help the fans follow cheers and participated in some cheers.

Activities this year included pep sessions, selling tickets at noon for games, a car entitled "Good Luck" in the Homecoming parade, and leading cheers around the Homecoming bonfire.

Cheerleaders took two trips to cheerleading conventions in Converse and Bloomington, Ind. At these they learned new techniques in cheering and brought back many new ideas to use at Panther games.

Starting the year off with a tight schedule, A Cappella "sang for its supper." This meant performing at the teachers' fare-well dinner in honor of Dr. Paul Schilling, former superintendent of schools.

In November A Cappella joined forces with Mixed Chorus and gave a Vocal Pop Concert which turned out quite successfully. The next concert was their Christmas Concert which both Choruses participated in.

January was spent in preparation for the annual Piano and Vocal Ensemble Contest, for which both groups produced many fine ensembles. After the contest Mixed Chorus spent the remainder of January and part of February in preparation for their first concert.

Performing In Concerts Keep Band In Shape

"Band! Attention!" were words frequently heard around marching season, as any member can tell you. Correct spacing, hitting each yard line with the correct foot, and playing as loud as possible all combined to make a good Band member.

This year the Band put an extra flare in their marching by adding patterns of motion to their routines. The "Hot Dog" pattern was their favorite, and simply by starting in different positions the band was able to create hundreds of geometric patterns.

This year's Band participated in the December 4 Hammond parade. This parade was televised by Channel 9.

After marching season the Band ventured inside where they transformed themselves into a Concert Band. Their three concerts, held in December, March, and May, kept everyone busy for the remainder of the year.

Twirlers and drum majors Maud Brederson, Ted Cook, Dolly Porter, Karen Graefe, Ron Stanish, and Martha Van Strein were seen marching in parades and at football games. Drum majors led the band while the twirlers not only twirled their batons but also did many routines with their pom poms.

Running Projectors, Checking Books Help Fill Year

Teaching other students and teachers the fundamentals of operating projectors was required of this year's projectionists. Keeping equipment in top shape by replacing bulbs, broken drive belts, and other minor repairs was another phase of their work.

Each projectionist was further required to spend one class period in the A-V office during which he fastened tickets on reserved machines, filed film, and occasionally went to run a projector.

This year's library assistants performed varied duties such as recording all books and other materials that left the library and setting up exhibits in the display cases and on bulletin boards.

Helping students find educational and personal materials were duties well done by the girls, as they gained knowledge in many fields.

Office Assistants, Ushers Undergo Busy Year

Judy Renschen, Patty Sweet, Sheila Townshend, Norma Welch, Linda Potter, Barb Smith, Marilyn Powers.

Office Assistants and Ushers both had busy schedules this year. There were hardly any spare moments for either, as both required full effort from the students.

"On-the-job training" was put into practice in the offices this year.

Students participating in this program typed, filed, made schedule alterations, delivered passes for counselors, distributed absentee lists to the teachers, answered the intercom, operated the switchboard, and occasionally took dictation.

These students not only received practical training in helping the school operate, but also received valuable training in secretarial work.

Helping people find seats, directing cars on the parking lot, and keeping order at games were the main duties of this year's ushers. Being responsible for these ushers was the job of the club's sponsor, Mr. Ray Weaver.

Health and Medical Careers Club Visits Hospitals

Dawn Kasmak, Lauren Black, and Roberta Bonaker are seen making cancer bandages.

Busy was the word for this year's Health and Medical Careers Club.

Several members were interviewed for jobs as Candy Strippers through the efforts of the club at such hospitals as Our Lady of Mercy and St. Margaret's.

The club also sponsored several visits at such hospitals as St. Luke's Presbyterian and Wesley Memorial. Members were able to get an idea of hospital functions and regulations besides meeting and talking to hospital personnel.

After receiving tickets to a lecture on Careers in Rehabilitation in Chicago, six members were chosen to go. The lecture included a special message from Patty Duke, with Miss Teenage America and Randy Boone making guest appearances.

Sponsoring a dance in December kept the club hopping.

Quill And Scroll Gives Annual Awards Banquet

Quill and Scroll is open only to those holding a major position on either the Panther Press or Reflector, and maintain a "B" average. By holding inductions in March, this year's membership was increased by sixteen.

The annual Awards Banquet was held at Tiebles for all staff members and their parents. The guest speaker talked on journalism as a career. Certificate of Awards for their time and effort were presented to the various section editors on each publication. A special award was given to the person whom the combined staffs thought was the most valuable member.

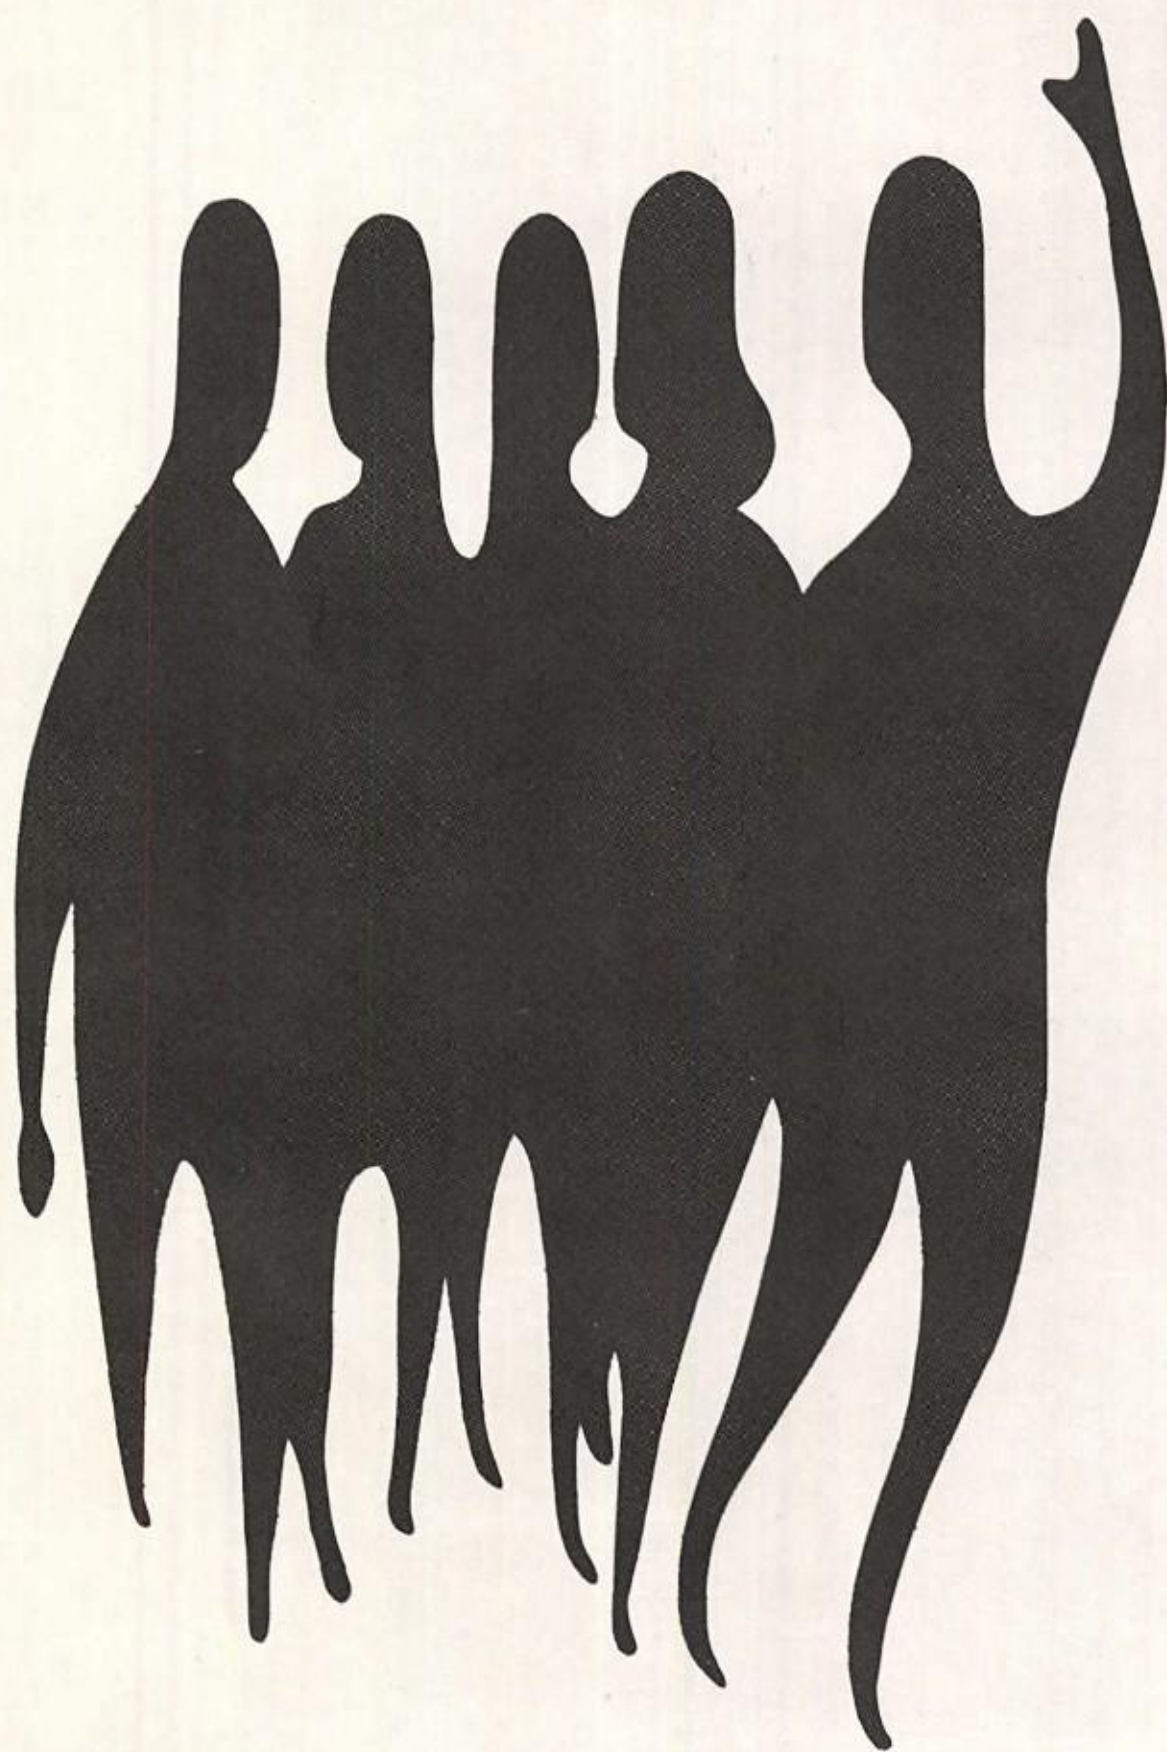

Pattie Day, Margaret Barnett, and Linda Hensley are making signs for the Panther Press dance. Active members of the Panther Press staff and Reflector staff compose the Quill and Scroll.

Tired muscles, hard work, and good sportsmanship are all a part of sports at Griffith High School. Griffith athletes take sports seriously and keep in top physical shape.

Win or lose, GHS students can always be proud of the never-give-up attitude displayed by Griffith athletes and coaches.

Juniors Lead Track Team In Capturing Conference

"This is the best track team Griffith ever had," boasted Coach Tom Kurth after winning the 1964 Calumet Conference track meet. Panthers also captured firsts in the Hammond Clark, Chesterton, Andrean, and Hobart meets.

They continued on the road to success by receiving top honors in the Rensselaer relays for the first time in the history of the team. After finishing third in their sectional, a determined Griffith team journeyed to the Conference meet anxious for a victory.

Rated to finish third behind Calumet and Crown Point, they surprised many as Dick Smith, Dave Harder, Chester Paterson, and John Collet, finished first in the low hurdles, pole vault, high hurdles, and the mile race, respectively. A number of unexpected seconds and thirds was all they needed to get over the final hump and into that all-important first place, making a storybook ending to a nearly perfect season.

Griffith finally got a shot putter in Dennis Welzen who set the school record at 54' 10½".

Tom Jamison, Dick Smith, Jim Marren, and Dave Sikes were winning combination for half-mile relay.

Panther Golfers Best Ever, Win Conference

Griffith must be considered a golf power in the Calumet region after winning its second Calumet Conference crown in as many years. The 1964 team finished the season with 25 wins and only 5 defeats.

Panthers lost only to Culver Military Academy, La Porte, Dyer, and twice to Andean. Griffith finished with a 10-1 conference record, being upset by Dyer.

Griffith placed fourth, in the Dyer Invitational, which saw more than 30 schools from northern Indiana participating.

At the Culver Invitational they finished fourth while competing against some of the best schools in the state. In the sectional they finished fourth out of 29 teams, all competing for a chance to go down state.

Tom Seichert finished as medalist for the year, Corky Teegarden, Greg Deedrick, and Leon Babair were all close with low scores ranging from 40-42 strokes for nine holes. Don Govert and Randy Otvos made up the rest of the team by adding extra support and depth. With the loss of only two seniors, the team will be in good shape for the 1965 season.

Someone neglected to tell Chuck DeNeal that he wasn't supposed to hit this pitch, so he did what came naturally and poked it over the third baseman's head for an extra-base hit.

Conference Race Because Of Slow Start

Good pitching coupled with excellent defense provided Coach Felix Zabroski and his stickmen with a sturdy backbone for the 1964 baseball season. Tallying the results of the season found Griffith cornering eighth place in the Calumet Conference with record of seven wins, no ties, and 10 losses.

Batting proved to be the Panthers' downfall as the first two games resulted in losses to Hobart and Hammond High.

Spirits rose in the next game as Griffith slid by Gary Edison, 5-1. The Panthers' next two tries against Dyer and Portage proved unsuccessful, but they rallied in time to top Merrillville, 2-0.

Three more losses, including to arch-rival Highland, 13-7, sparked the Panthers on two victories over Bishop Noll and Crown Point. Season ended uphill with the Black and Gold triumphing in their last two games.

Defensive safetyman Dave Sikes scrambles up and over Gavit's intended receiver in pursuit of elusive pigskin and succeeds in breaking up a key pass play.

Spirit Takes Over Team To Salvage Season

Chuck Stuhlmacher (73) stops Bishop Noll advance as Dave DeReamer (25) rushes to give assistance.

Starting with the Gavit game and carrying through the rest of the season, Panther gridmen devoted themselves to working together.

By the end of the year Chet Patterson led the scoring attack with five touchdowns and proved himself to be a dangerous threat as a pass receiver.

Tom Jamison and Mike Trueblood were among Schuttrow's favorite pass receivers. Jamison caught three touchdown passes and Trueblood one. Mark Voges, Dennis Welzein, Dave Sikes, and Bob Siurek led the offensive line.

Dave Green and Chuck Stuhlmacher should receive honors for their fine defensive work along with Rick Garrard, Dave Butler, Dave DeReamer, and Dave Welch.

Panthers Pull Together After Gavit, End 4-4-1

Chester Patterson leaps high into the air to escape defender and grab the ball for a substantial gain.

"I was very disappointed and let down after our first four games, but I was proud of the way our boys came back and played great ball in their last five games. We reached our peak in the Portage game and carried it through the rest of the season," stated Coach Kurth.

Starting with the Gavit game and a senior take over, the boys played as a unit and the team started to click. Seniors supplied leadership and encouragement while helping inexperienced members.

At all times the good of the team came first, and personal satisfaction second. Mike LaNoue and Bob Wilson demonstrated this fact by their sacrifice of personal wants. LaNoue, a halfback, moved into the middle of the defensive front wall and Wilson settled for specializing on offense.

According to Coach Kurth, the best example of team spirit was displayed by Wayne Vitkus who helped sophomore Mike Schuttrow step into the rank of varsity quarterback. "Our comeback was a team effort by all" according to Coach Kurth.

"You defensive linemen loosen up and you backs hit the holes fast and hard." urges Coach Kurth.

Inexperience and lack of desire contributed to an 0-5-1 record for the J.V. this year. "The team played well against Merrillville and Dyer," said Coach Ballou.

In the Merrillville game Griffith led 13 to 12 and then, due to a quick T.D. and some questionable calls by the referees, they lost the game by two touchdowns.

The team played the best game against Dyer but was edged out 11 to 13. "They played tremendously," exclaimed Ballou. The team, consisting of five juniors and thirteen sophomores, played without many juniors and sophomores who played varsity.

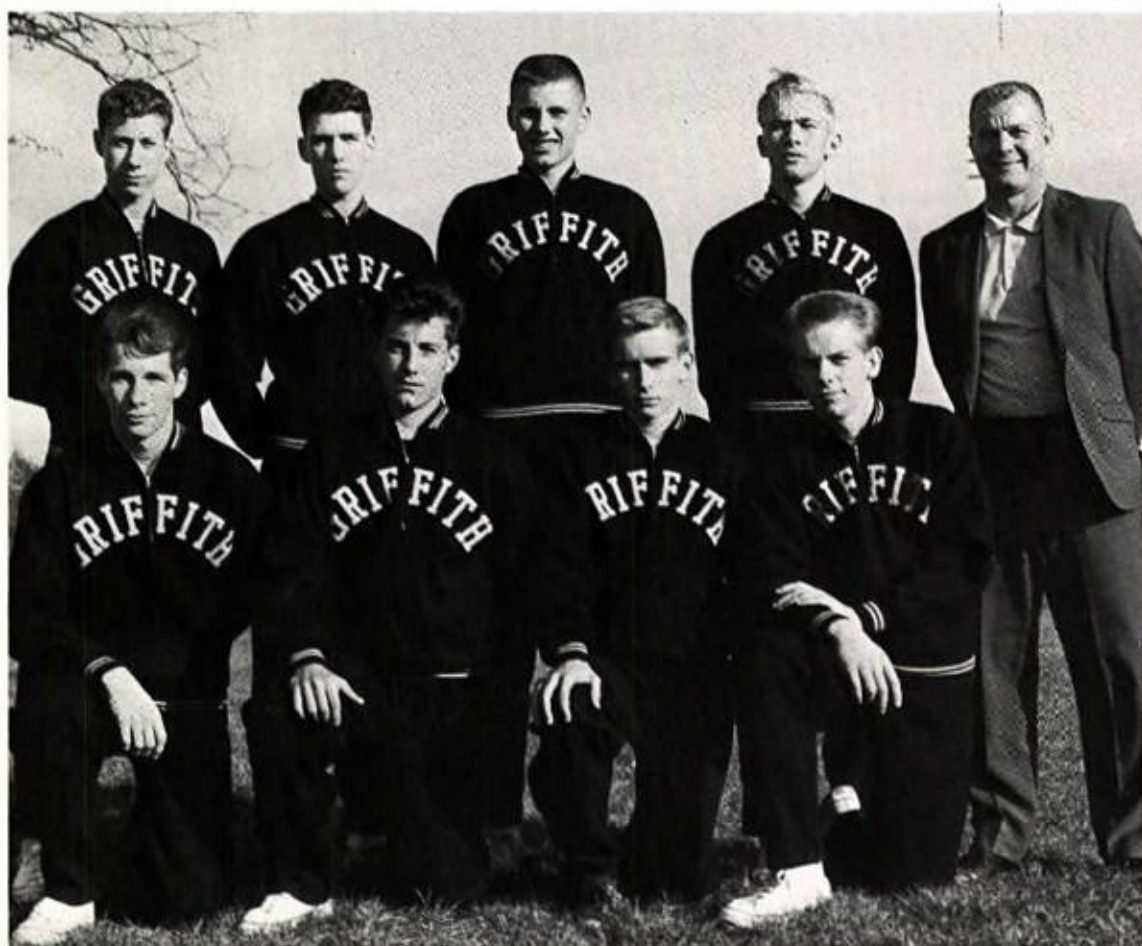

Allen Jennings led the team this year with his spirit and hard running. Linden Eley, Ted Kane, Leon Francis, and Gordon Thrall, who was injured early in the season, were bright spots in the line up.

"This is undoubtedly the best cross country team Griffith has ever had," stated Coach Harold Mack. Panther harriers finished third in the conference and ended the year with a 10-2 record.

The Panthers finished second in the sectional and, for the first time in the history of GHS, went to the regional.

John Collet, Griffith's superman, continued by capturing second in the state meet. Griffith finished fourth in the Andrean Invitational and fifth at the Shortridge Invitational.

Griffith lost to Crown Point and Calumet, the State Champs, in the Conference Meet, but came back to defeat Crown Point in the sectional.

Seniors Chip Kegebein, Brian Nagy, and John Collet finished running high school cross country with the closing of the season. Marty Lehmann, Ed Schinabarger, Lenny Zarndt, Tom Broertjes, and Dennis Bonnie make up the returning lettermen for next year.

Harriers Best In School History, Says Mack

John Collet deserves special recognition for his endeavors at Griffith High. John holds too many records to mention at one time. The most important of these is his state two mile record, 9:18.4.

This is the fastest two miles ever run in high school in the state of Indiana. He was only beaten twice this year. John is the only one in the history of Indiana to ever win four straight sectionals.

"We should be fair next year," reassured Coach Mack, "but we will miss John." Besides the returning lettermen, Dave Long, Randy Otovas, Dave Young, and Len Czaplá will add strength to the team.

Among Collet's records are:

Sophomores,

Panthers finished the 1965-66 basketball season with a final record of 12-10. With only three seniors, Coach Harold Mack had to rely on sophomores and juniors to make up the rest of the team.

Milija Jovanovich, Bob Smith, and Chip Kegebein proved their importance, not only playing wise, but by displaying leadership and sportsmanship. Jovanovich, Smith, and sophomore Kerry Pickett led the team in rebounds and shooting honors while Kegebein, Pete Karnisky, and Lenny Zarndt, the latter juniors, demonstrated excellent ball control and scrapping defense. Mike Schuttrow and Marty Lehmann saw action often and enabled other starters to get rest.

Griffith started the season by winning four out of the first five games. Panthers then fell apart during the first Annual Holiday Tourney, finishing fourth. The team rallied to win the next game by defeating a strong Hammond Morton team, 61-60. They went on to win three of the next four and then lost the next four. After a few changes the team finished winning the last three games and winning the first game of the Crown Point Sectional, 65-51, over Boone Grove and then losing to Merrillville 41-44.

"There is a lot of potential on this team and I am sure that most will be on the varsity next year if they work hard during the summer," stated coach Bob Wiatrolik.

The Crown Point game, during the holiday tourney, was the first game that the team really played together, according to Coach Wiatrolik. "They beat Crown Point and from there on out started to play good ball."

Rick Gerrard and Tom Britton led the team in rebounding. Gerrard was also high point man and, along with Craig Nagel, proved to be the team's most aggressive player. Lenny Czaplak's ball control added speed to the team while Dave Walters, Dave Long, Dennis Bonie, and Jim Spanaule added depth to the team.

Swimmers Take Conference Crown In First Year

Panther swimmers climaxed an already fine season by winning the First Annual Calumet Conference Swimming Meet and by finishing seventh in the Sectional.

In its first year, the Griffith team ended the season 6-3 before going into the conference and sectional meets. The reason for their success lies in hard work, determination, and good coaching. Practice sessions were at 6 a.m. and again after school.

"The meets were all good because we really weren't strong enough to overpower anybody by very much," said Coach Dan Leslie. Horace Mann, Whiting, and Hammond High were the boys' best showings.

Wilson, Gibson Lead Matmen On To 8-6 Season

Griffith matmen ended the 1965-1966 wrestling season with a final record of 8-6. Panthers battled their way to a fourth in the conference and sixth in the sectional.

Leading the team this year were Bob Wilson, Mike Nelson, and Ron Gibson. Wilson finished the regular season play undefeated and lost the final match in the sectional. He ended the year 19-1. Gibson and Nelson ended with records of 16-2-3 and 15-5 respectively. Like most teams, injuries hurt Panthers during the year. Mike LaNoue got a late start, Dave Harder was hampered with an eye injury, and Tom Schatzman suffered a concussion just before the conference meet.

"Highland was one of our better meets" said Nichols. "Wilson won the last match of the meet to give us the victory.

"We should be in real good shape next year with the loss of only three seniors." Besides Wilson and Gibson, next year's team will be depending heavily on Mike Trueblood and Mike LaNoue. Both finished the year with records of 10-5 and 7-3-2. Tom Schatzman, Ted Kane, Dave Roberts, and Larry Kus will all be back.

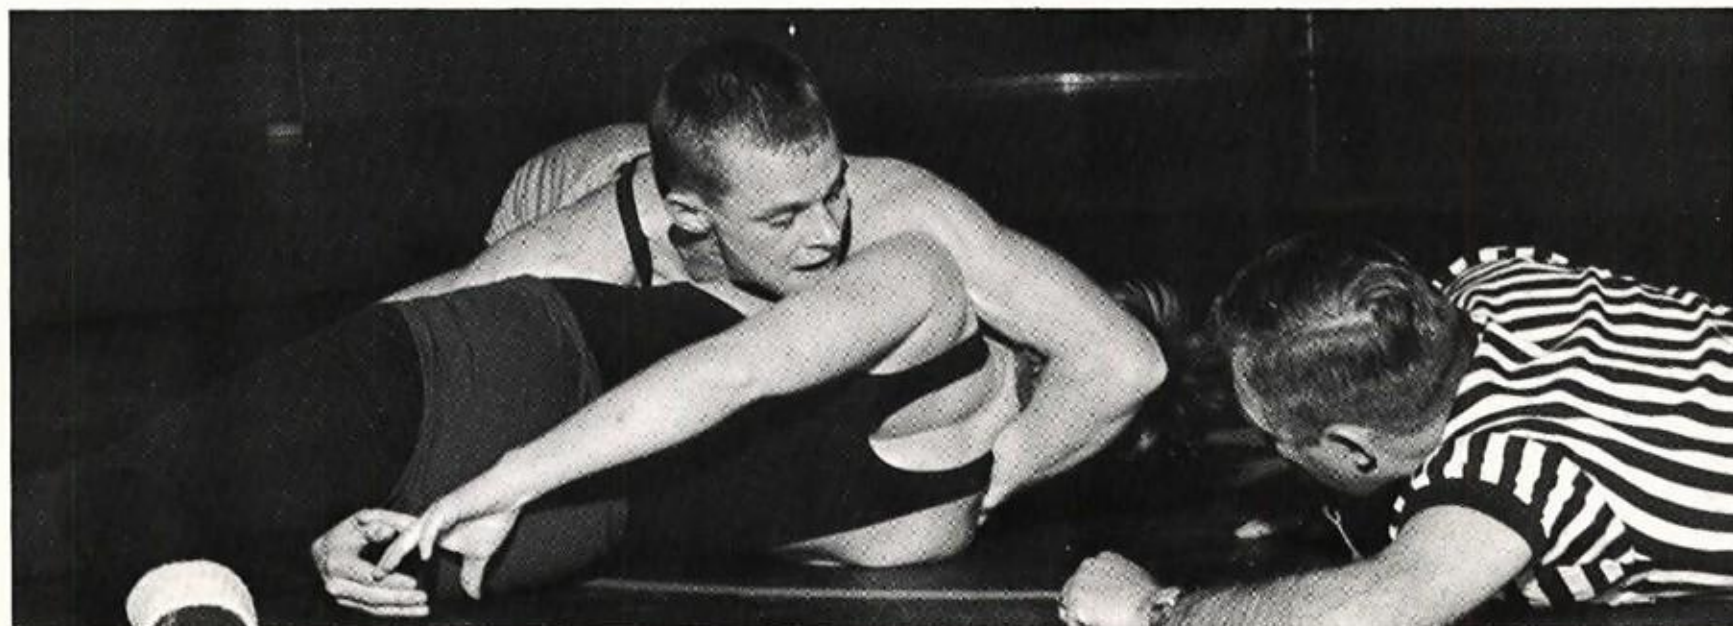

Dave Harder ties up opponent's legs and turns him over gaining better position and riding time.

Students Enjoy The Classes And Teachers At G.H.S.;

A Good Education Is Easily Obtained Here

Mr. Weaver carefully goes over the day's assignment with his Spanish class.

Classes are usually conducted on an informal basis with much being contributed by both teachers and students. Although good times are common in classes, so are hard work and big books.

A good education is easily obtained at GHS merely by wanting one and being willing to work for it.

Industriously working out math problems, temac students demonstrate how absorbing math can get.

Mr. Arthur L. Fiscus, B.S., M.S., Indiana State, Indiana University, Purdue; Temac, Plane Geometry.

Students Experiment With 'New Math' Problems

This year's Algebra students became familiar with such mathematical terms as the number line, positive and negative integers, and study of equations. After learning these things students are ready to move on to Algebra II, which is basically a more-involved study in algebra.

Geometry students spent their time learning the principles behind such terms as set of numbers, theorems, postulates, and proofs. They gained extra credit by proving assigned problems and then presenting them to the class on the board. Another form of credit could be done by making different constructions of such things as octagons and hexagons.

For these students who do not do well in math or are not planning to attend college, general math is offered. Students enrolled in this class review the basic principles of math.

Trigonometry, physics, calculus and analytical geometry are offered for college-bound students that are exceptional in that field.

Mr. Richard Ellis, B.S., Eastern Illinois, Purdue; Algebra I and II, Physics, Trigonometry, Analytical Geometry.

Future Homemakers Find Home Ec Facilities Good

Miss Dessie Beanblossom, B.S., M.S. Indiana State; Teaches Clothing I and II.

Discussing different kinds of glassware, Cora Williams, Paula Zarndt, Betty Brownd, Donna Shockley, Karen Eley, and Myra Geiger enjoy the comforts of the departments living room.

Girls who wanted experience in making clothes, reading patterns, and working with different kinds of material found the clothing classes ideal. New pieces were constantly being added to wardrobes as each girl was required to complete a jumper, a lined wool collarless suit, shorts or slacks, pajamas, a shirt waist dress, and something out of a checked or plaid material. In preparation for the future each girl was also required to make a child's garment. Besides sewing, the girls spent some of their time learning how to pick colors best suited to themselves and studying different textiles.

Home problems offered practical training in running a household and proper child care. Girls discussed what they should expect out of household products. The year was highlighted with various field trips that taught the girls how to choose meat and get the most for their money.

The girls enrolled in tailoring classes experimented in making their own patterns and designing their own clothes.

Pam Smith and Pat Holified help Lynda Coffee cut out the material for a suit she will be working on.

English Classes Review Grammar, Read On Patio;

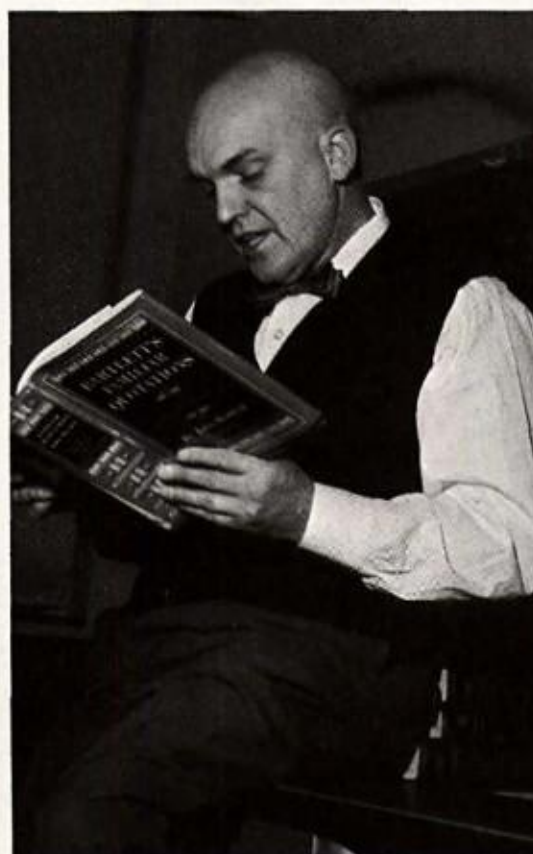

Mrs. Lynn Lucas, B.S., Indiana State; English; Y-Teens, Senior Class sponsor.

Writing a term paper on a career of one's choice poses problems for many students, but this girl is finding the facilities of the school library to be quite adequate.

Mr. Gerald Richard Spejewski, B.S., St. Joseph, Indiana University; English; Drama Club.

Mr. Charles Harkin, B.S., Ball State University; English; National Honor Society.

Sophomore English classes started by reading the novel Silas Marner. They next moved into a study of short stories, and finished off the year with panel discussions and short speeches.

Junior English classes started the year by dividing into two main groups, one reading An American Tragedy and the other reviewing basic parts of grammar. However, study in grammar was perhaps the most prominent factor of the year's work.

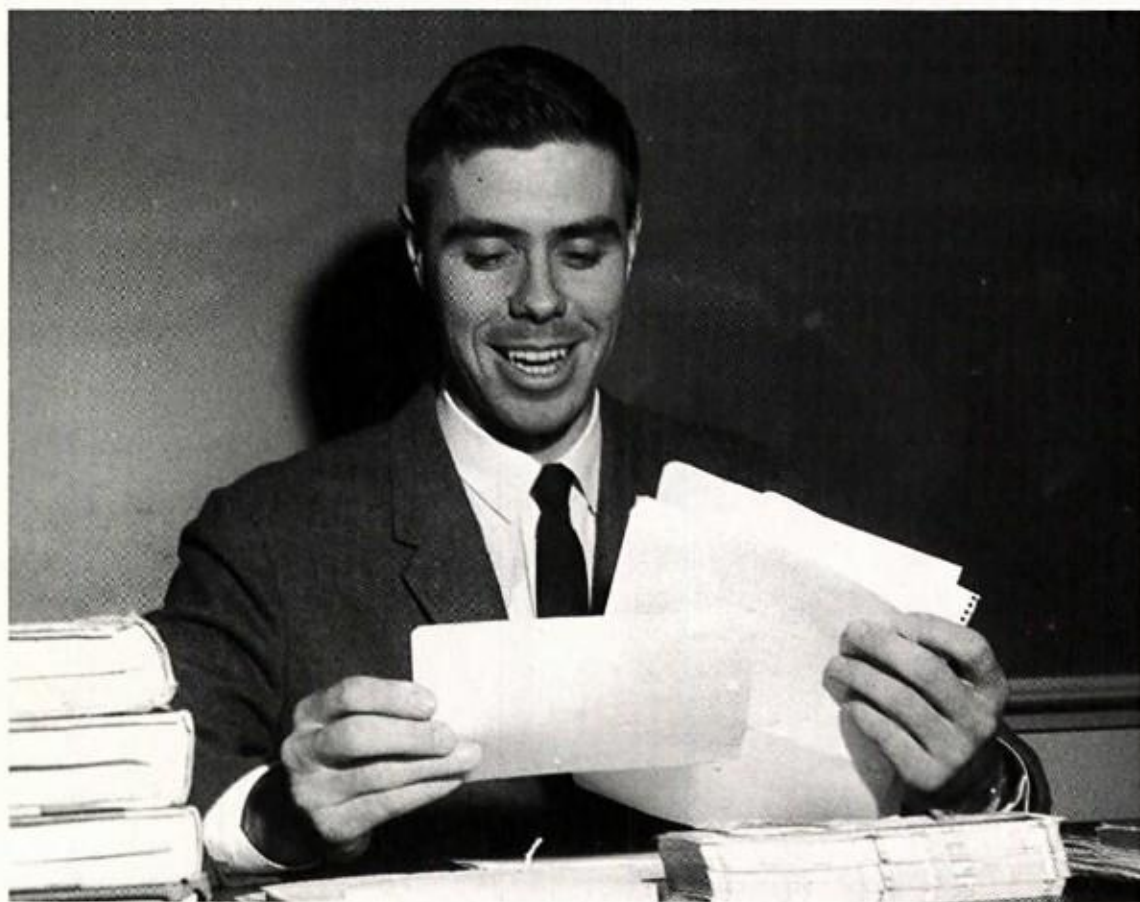

Highlights of the senior English classes included a study of early and medieval literature, and a traditional reading of the play MacBeth, a general review of grammar, practice in speech making, and a unit on short stories.

During warm weather the classes made use of the patio by spending their reading periods out there.

Drama Class Writes; Speech Students Discuss

Gaining practical experience in expressing their thoughts, Dave McCain, Alan Jennings, Lynn Swingler, and Pam Whitenadk participated in a panel discussion.

Mr. James Findley, A.B., Indiana State, English, Future Teachers of America.

Mr. Spejewski and his drama class worked quite earnestly throughout the year by writing a one-act play, learning the history of costumes and drama, and working with make up, light, and scenery. In The Drama Sector, analyzing the play was found most interesting while learning different acting styles came in a close second.

Speech classes gave countless recitations, starting off with three-minute speeches and gradually working their way up to ten-minute speeches.

Doing practical work on the Panther Press or Reflector provided an opportunity for extra credit in this year's beginning classes in journalism. Feature stories were written in a concise but interesting manner. In advertising students fashioned copy in a manner most appealing to the public. Copyreading not only developed alert minds, but also increased knowledge in punctuation. Countless hours were devoted to writing headlines as the students learned the necessary factors for a good headline.

Journalism Students Learn Newspaper Work

Mr. Jerry Woodring, B.S. Ball State; Journalism, English; newspaper, yearbook, Quill & Scroll.

French Students Sing Carols; Spanish Classes Get Books

Instilling in students a workable knowledge of French and Spanish was the main goal of this year's Foreign Language Department. The department employed several methods in obtaining this goal, which included extensive work on oral and written exercises.

Bars of "Escuela Griffith" could be heard floating through the halls as Spanish classes practiced the school song. New books enabled them to not only look at the grammatical aspects of Spanish, but also the cultural aspects.

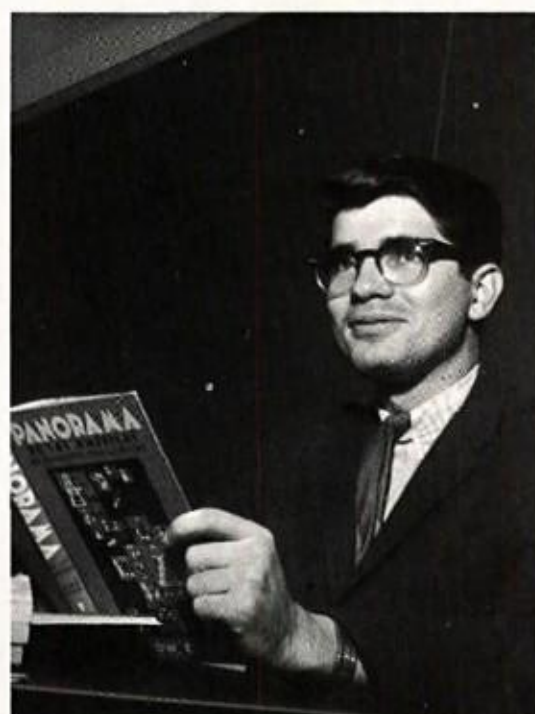

Christmas spirit generated throughout the French classes as they got in the swing of things learning to sing several Christmas carols in French. A special unit on Paris for French II gave them an idea of French culture.

Pat Dagley and Dave Long show class how to tell time in French.

Mrs. Dorothy Blum, B.S. Indiana University, N.D.E.A. University de Besancon, French.

Mr. Ray Eugene Weaver, A.B. Indiana State; Spanish; Junior Class sponsor, Language Club, Ushers.

Mr. Weaver temporarily becomes a chorus director as he teaches his class Christmas carols in Spanish.

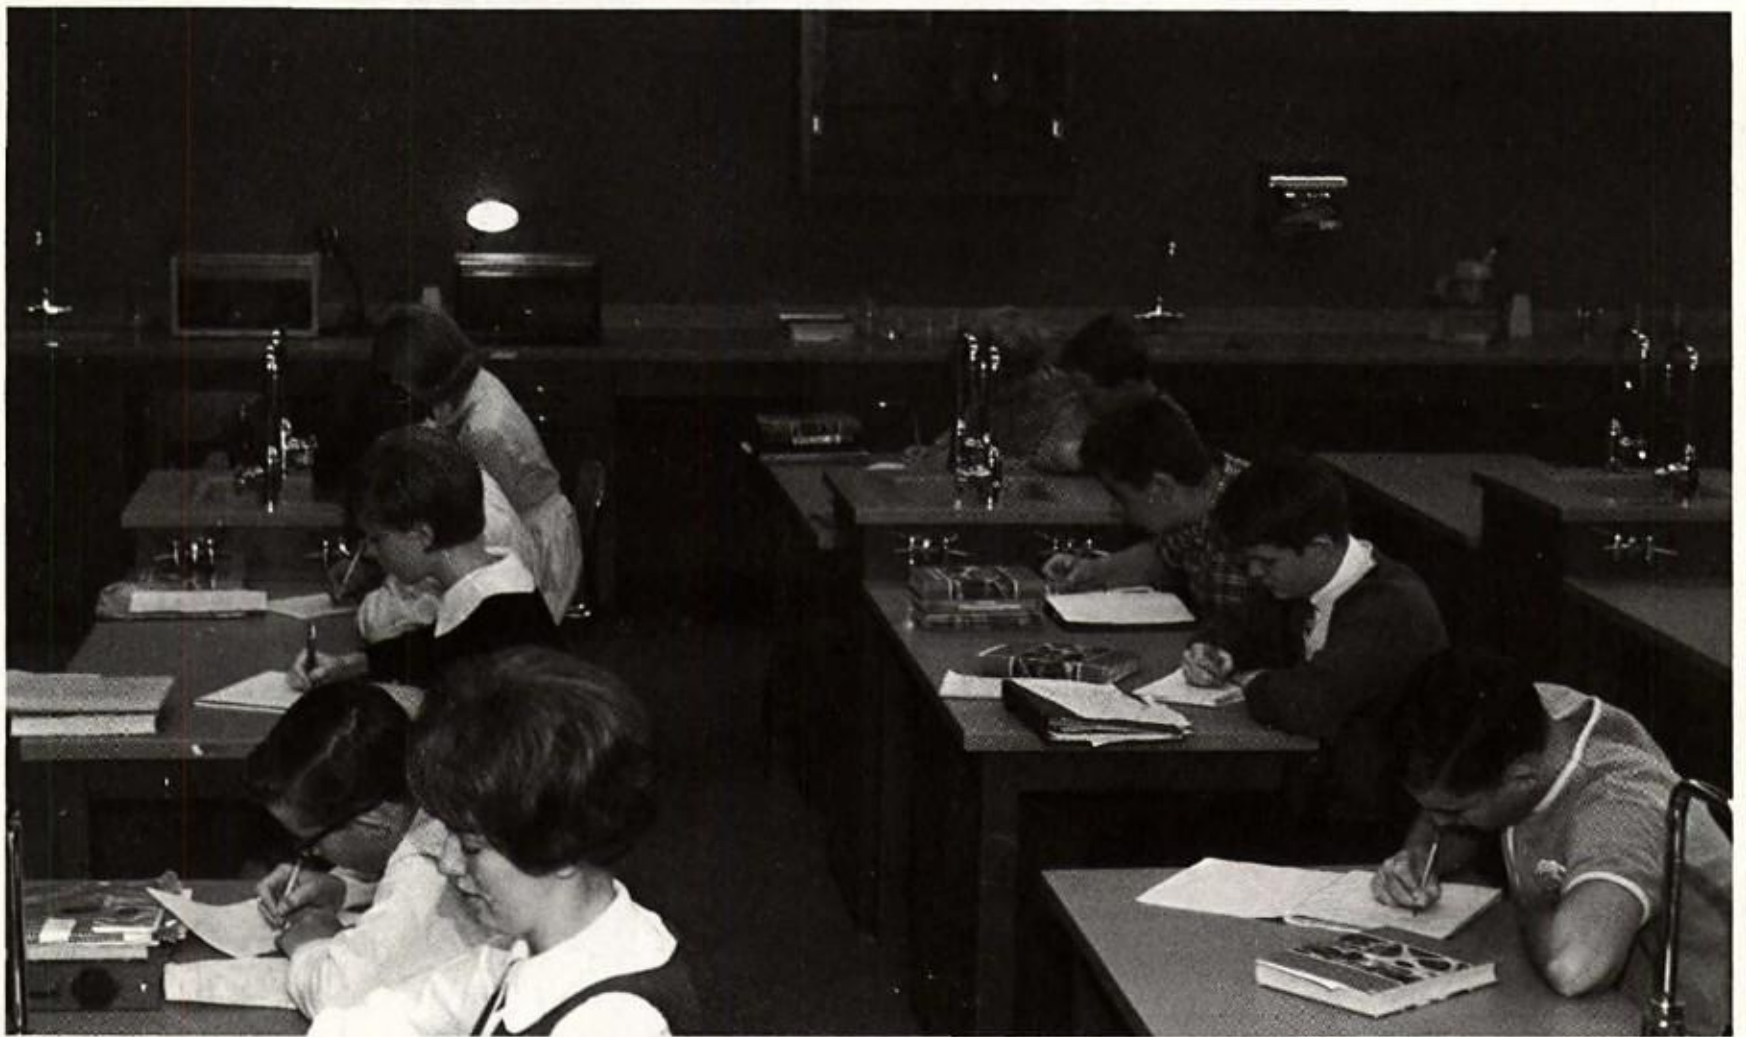

Biology Students Explore Cadie Marsh Ditch;

Mr. Donald J. Casanova, B.S. Wisconsin State, Chemistry; Future Scientists of America.

By counting their friend's ribs, Karen Gummy and Bonnie Strauser wonder if he isn't just a little skinny. Karen and Bonnie were chosen to attend the Depaul University lectures on biology.

Earnestly taking notes, advanced biology students work in preparation for a test.

Chemistry, Physics Classes Do Experiments

Mrs. Geraldine Sherfey, B.S., M.S. Ball State, Indiana State; Biology; Sponsors FSA.

Performing experiments, acquiring knowledge of the proper use of laboratory equipment, and following up with individual research were a few phases of this year's science classes, including advanced biology, biology, chemistry, and physics.

Biology experienced a year of reorganization as students gave extra hours helping catalog books and equipment.

Field trips to Cadie Marsh Ditch and Horseshoe Lake were included on the agenda of advanced biology activities, where students checked the types of plants and algae found in those areas. Trips to the Purdue Calumet Library were designed to provide students with opportunities for research on individual projects.

Elements, compounds, and mixtures were terms frequently used by chemistry students in performing and writing up experiments.

Physic students spent most of their time working on various problems and experiments.

Art, Music Classes Study Cultural Aspects

Mr. Paul Fultz, B.S. Manchester College, M.S. Ball State; Art, Ceramics; Tennis Coach; Art Club.

Mr. Charles J. Ricks, B.S. Ball State; Art; Art Club.

Mr. Robert Earnest Sohn, M.M. University of Michigan; Band Instructor.

Mr. Richard Larue Metcalf, B.M.M.E., M.M.M.E., Jordan Butler; Chorus Director.

Preparations for their next concert are under way as the band members practice.

Art classes not only spent their time doing creative work, but they also studied different artists and their styles. Making various shaped ashtrays and vases was another one of their projects.

The music department experienced an active year with the band and chorus giving numerous concerts. The band's first concert consisted mostly of classical music with some Christmas music put in to add color. The next two concerts were on the lighter side. The choruses performances varied greatly from classical to popular music.

Physical Education Students Learn Fitness, Sportsmanship

Mr. Thomas Kurth, B.S. Wittenburg; Health and Physical Education; Varsity Track and Football Coach, Lettermen's Club.

Mr. Wayne Nichols, B.S. Indiana University; Physical Education, First Aid, Wrestling Coach, Assistant Football Coach.

Miss Geraldine Kline, B.S. Indiana University; Physical Education, First Aid, Booster Club.

Dividing the year into several units such as volleyball, basketball, tumbling, and track, the physical education classes learned the basic rules, fundamentals of refereeing and different plays in each sport. In such units as tumbling they practiced stunts on the trampoline, the parallel bars, and the horse.

Each class spent six weeks using the facilities of the pool where most students passed their beginner or intermediate swimming tests. Another nine weeks were spent in a classroom where students learned the fundamentals of first-aid.

The National Physical Fitness tests were administered to each student at the beginning and end of the year. These enabled the instructor to measure the students' progress. However, good sportsmanship and fair play were two of the more important things the classes stressed.

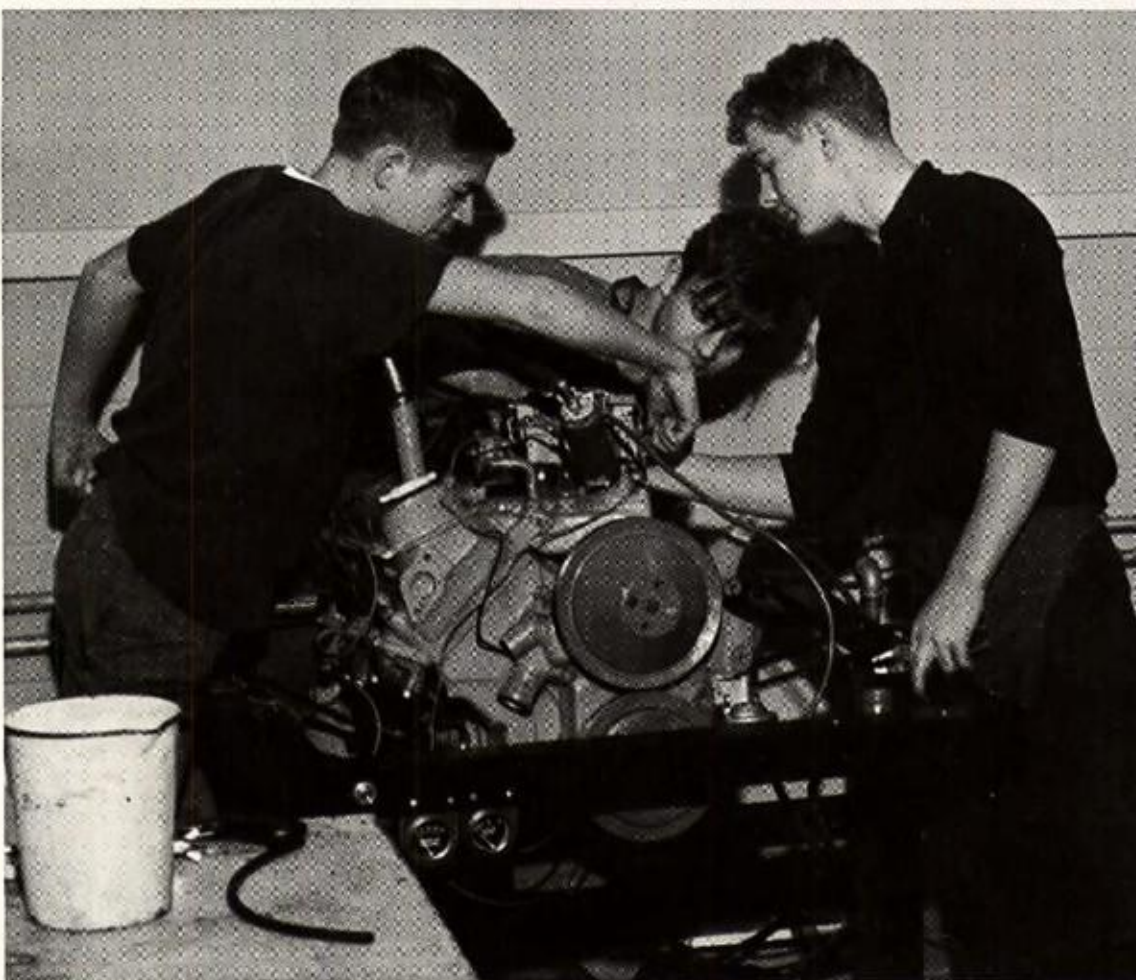

"Jump High," says Coach Kurth as he administers a jump ball during one of the phys. ed. basketball games.

By means of elimination Bill Stull, Mr. Tilley, Jim Adams, and Tom Wright are carefully examining each part to find the faulty one.

Auto, Machine Shops Repair Engines, Make Tools;

Getting engines in working condition entails lots of work as these boys are finding out.

Mr. John Tilley, B.S. Indiana State; Auto Mechanics, Drafting.

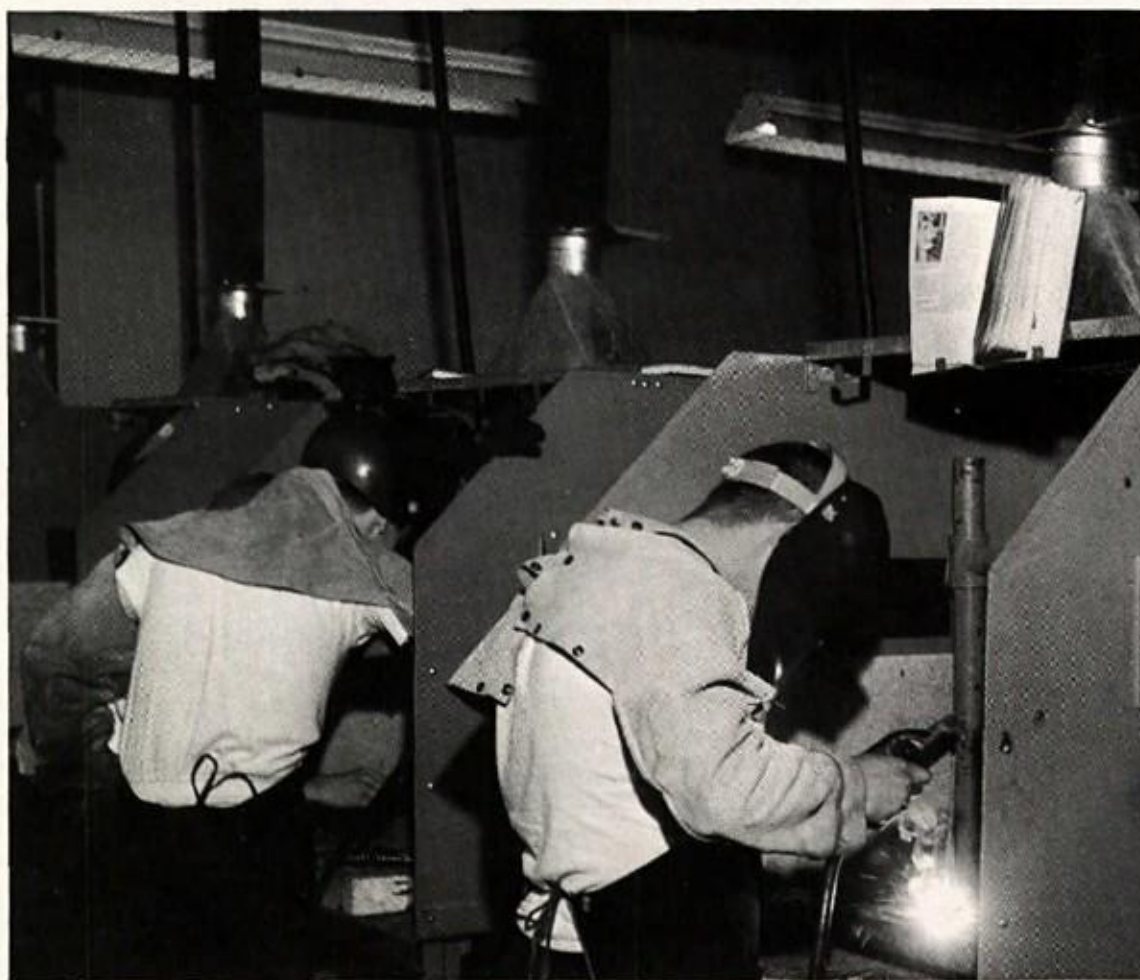

Mr. George McClure, B.S., M.S., Indiana State; Industrial Arts.

Mr. Dan W. Leslie, B.S., M.S., Purdue, Indiana State; Woodshop, Drafting; Swimming coach.

Woodshops Design Projects, Repair Articles

By learning the fundamentals of welding, these boys are gaining not only practical experience but also the safety precautions involved.

Improving technical skills is the main objective of the Industrial Arts Department.

Drafting is the basic requirement for all classes. After completing this students are eligible to enroll in such courses as woodshop, advanced woodshop, machine shop, auto mechanics.

This year's woodshops experienced a year of activity. Students worked on such useful objects as end tables, bookshelves, and cabinets. They also learned the proper way to sand down and refinish articles previously considered useless.

Machine shops also experienced a busy year. Griffith's future mechanics spent their time repairing cars and doing complete overhauling on cars left by teachers and other students.

In machine shop students learned to operate such equipment as the lathe, and drill press and forge. Several projects were completed such as a steam engine, making their own tools such as a screw driver, bolts and files, and an actual lathe.

Future Secretaries, Businessmen Train With

Mr. James Andrew Claxton, B.S., M.A., Southwestern New Mexico, Arizona State; Business Education, Typing.

Miss Kyra McKay, B.S., M.A., Ball State; Typing, counsels Junior Class.

Shorthand I and II, Typing I and II, General Business, Clerical Procedures, and Bookkeeping help train students to enter the world of business.

Because of the essential need for typing in almost any phase of business, two years of typing are offered. Beginners spent most of their time mastering the keyboard. Accuracy is stressed over speed. However, second year typing students, having already mastered the keyboard, concentrated on building their speed to 60 words a minute with four errors.

Shorthand is another important part of business which offered two years. Students starting out in shorthand learned the basic rudiments and practiced writing them. They also took short dictations. Second year students began with a general review of shorthand followed by intensive drill work on dictations designed to build their speed and accuracy.

The knowledge of how to keep accurate books and records was obtained by students enrolled in bookkeeping. As a special project students were required to keep the imaginary business for one month.

General business students not only learned to write checks and studied the main aspects of the insurance business, but they also learned the advantages of bookkeeping.

Clerical procedures, offered only to seniors, dealt with the procedures followed in today's offices. The students did research on the proper code of dress and the different phases of office work and then reported to the class.

Typing, Shorthand, Bookkeeping, General Business

Mrs. Betty Lou Holmgren, B.S., M.S., Western College, Indiana University; Shorthand, Secretarial Practices.

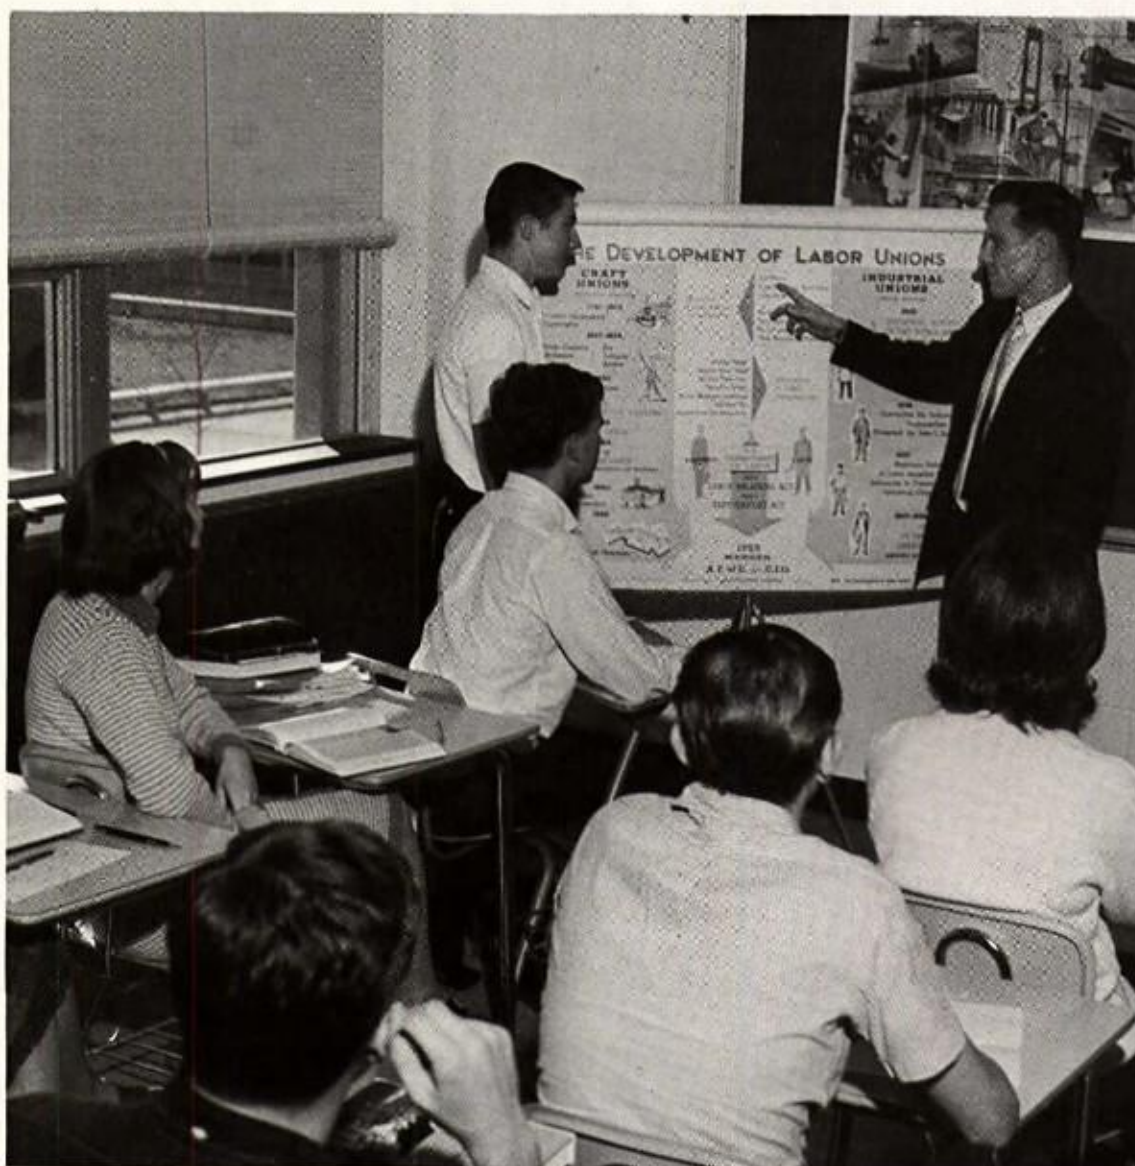

Mr. Robert Dale Reed, A.B., M.A., Valparaiso, Indiana University; General Business, Bookkeeping.

Student 'Historians' Read Books, Write Papers

Mr. Ballou comes to the rescue of Wayne Vitkus by pointing out the right answer on the chart.

Sophomores were initiated into this required subject with world history by exploring Egyptian tombs, the "Golden" ages of many countries, and World Wars. For extra projects the students wrote papers on particular wars and people.

Juniors got used to the idea of working as they were graded not only on tests and projects, but also class participation and daily assignments. They were required to read and report on one book pertaining to history for a "B" and two books for an "A." Juniors studied American history from its beginning to the present.

Government and Economics kept Seniors on their toes. Government consisted of the study of the Constitution, bit by bit so as to thoroughly understand it. The system of courts and legislative bodies of the government were also studied in depth.

Economics consisted of the standard of living and how money is made, put into use, and further developed.

Psychology and sociology are also included in the department. Psychology students studied human behavior and then went on to study group behavior in sociology.

Mr. Stephan Stanczak, B.S., Northern Illinois, University of Chicago; U.S. History; Student Council.

Mr. Carl Dalton, A.B., M.S., Kentucky Wesleyan, Western Kentucky, Indiana University; U.S. History, Psychology, Sociology.

Mr. Thomas Knarr, B.S. Indiana State; Economics, Government, Contemporary Affairs.

As They Study History, Government, Economics

Mr. Bud Ballou, B.S., Indiana State, Indiana University; Economics, Government, World History; Assistant Coach in Football, Wrestling, Track.

Mr. Harold Mills Mack, B.S., M.S., Valparaiso; World History; Cross Country, Varsity Basketball Coach.

Mr. Mack's history class takes time out for a few moments of relaxation as they discover history isn't all fact and memory work.

Over 600 People Make Up World Of GHS;

They Learn Sportsmanship, Friendship, Respect

People make up the world of GHS. Ranging from students to administration, there are all sorts of shapes and sizes.

For some, this is the last year; for others, there is still more to come. Without them there wouldn't be classes, activities, sports, or even school.

Students learn here at GHS. They learn sportsmanship, friendship, and how to study.

Mrs. Lucas, Officers Led Seniors Through Busy

Senior cords, scholarship tests, white lettermen sweaters, the play, and election of superlatives all helped this year's seniors to keep the fire of tradition brightly burning at GHS.

Proud of their class yell, "We are hep and out for kicks, We're the class of 66," and of their class colors, powder blue and silver, the seniors worked hard to make their last year unforgettable.

In the Homecoming festivities, the seniors captured second place with their float entitled "Pop Up A Victory." Senior lettermen had the honor and responsibility of nominating the five senior girls for Homecoming queen.

With the worries of putting on a prom over, the seniors were able to relax and let the year run its course. In the spring the seniors used the remainder of their treasury for the purchase of their class gift. They finished the year by attending the prom given in their honor by the juniors.

Leaders of the Class of 1966 are Marsha Auter, secretary; Wayne Vitkus, vice-president; Mrs. Lynn Lucas, sponsor; Jenny Vajda, treasurer; and Mike Goffredo, president.

"On the go and always revin', they're the Class of '67!" Who are they? The juniors, of course!

After two years of being the "underdogs" the juniors finally reached their goal. This year they were recognized as upperclassmen.

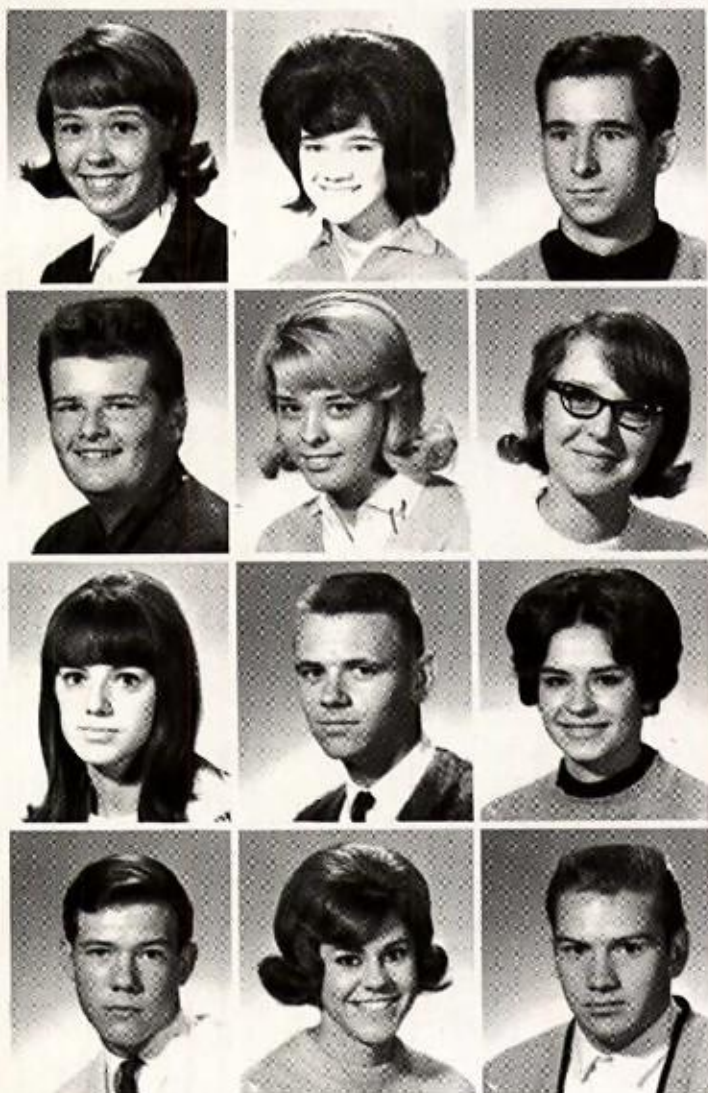

But being upperclassmen also meant added work. Throughout the year they kept busy raising money for their prom. Selling magazine subscriptions, running the concession stand at games, and giving a soc hop were just a few of their projects.

Just as the mailman always comes through with his mail, so did the juniors. They managed to keep the football field fairly clean. This is one of the responsibilities of being a junior.

All their hard work was rewarded when the juniors received first place for their float "Spectin' a Victory."

Sophomores Find Change, Senior High Different;

Completing their first year in the senior high school building were the sophomores. Not only did they add in number to the student body, but they gave to the school additional pep and enthusiasm.

They displayed this vigor by joining many clubs and activities offered.

No one can say that when it came to sports and academic achievements that the "sophs" lagged behind. They pulled their share of the load.

Even though they were considered the underdogs, they can look back on this year as one that will be hard to forget. Now they, too, have something to look forward to, which is the honor of being upperclassmen.

Administration Keeps GHS Running Smoothly

Mr. Floyd Davis takes time out for a few moments of relaxation from his busy schedule as vice-principal.

Keeping GHS running smoothly occupies most of the administration's time.

Mr. Forrest S. Sheely, principal, is at the head of this organization. Besides overseeing all operation, he is intensely interested in individual as well as school achievements and in the general welfare of the students.

Mr. Floyd F. Davis, assistant principal, is not only a counselor, but he has the additional responsibility of being the sports coordinator.

Mrs. Mary Plough, office secretary, handles general management of the main office. Mrs. Evelyn Downing, A-V secretary, is in charge of the ditto equipment.

Mr. James Garretson, head counselor, does his best to keep the student body informed about college boards and scholarship information.

Mr. Sidney Vaughan is in charge of the Audio-Visual besides counseling three periods a day.

Mrs. Grace Ashmore plays the role of school treasurer. Mr. Charles O'Rourke, director of pupil personnel, keeps attendance records.

Mr. Garretson, head counselor, checks over students' report cards making sure there are no errors.

Mr. Vaughn, counselor, is never too busy to take time out to discuss a student's problems with the parents.

Busy checking over money orders is Mrs. Grace Ashmore, school treasurer.

Mr. Forrest S. Sheely, Principal, pauses in the midst of a busy day.

As Well As Guiding Students Toward Future

Mr. Charles O'Rourke, director of pupil personnel, writes out an admittance slip for a student.

Mrs. Evelyn Downing, AV secretary, checks over the master before turning it over to her assistants.

School Board Plans, Discusses Schools' Future

Board members and secretaries include Mrs. Leona Kane, secretary, Mr. Raymond Underwood, Mr. Ronald Reginer, Mr. Milford Christenson, and Mrs. Audrey Patterson, secretary.

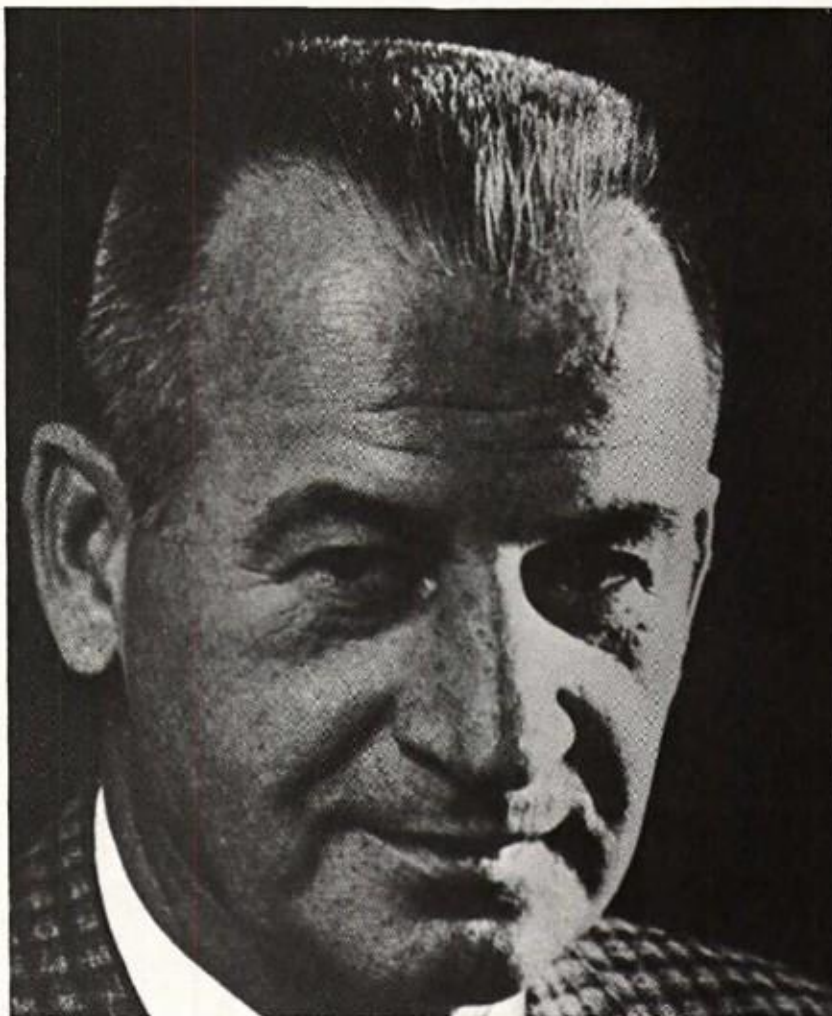

The superintendent with the aid of his staff and school board conducts a million-dollar business. To keep a business of this size running efficiently and smoothly requires ingenuity, ability, and a lot of hard work.

Curricular and administrative policy is the responsibility of the superintendent and his staff. School policy is set by the school board.

Many long hours are spent preparing the budget and anticipating the curricular needs to accommodate students in a fast-growing community.

Coordinating curriculum to meet the needs of both college-bound and vocational students requires a great deal of skill and time.

Mr. Kenneth Manifold is assistant superintendent for business affairs.

Congeniality Makes Custodians, Cooks Assets

Keeping Griffith High School orderly and in good repair are the main jobs of the custodial staff. Friendly smiles and a willingness to help make GHS custodians unique.

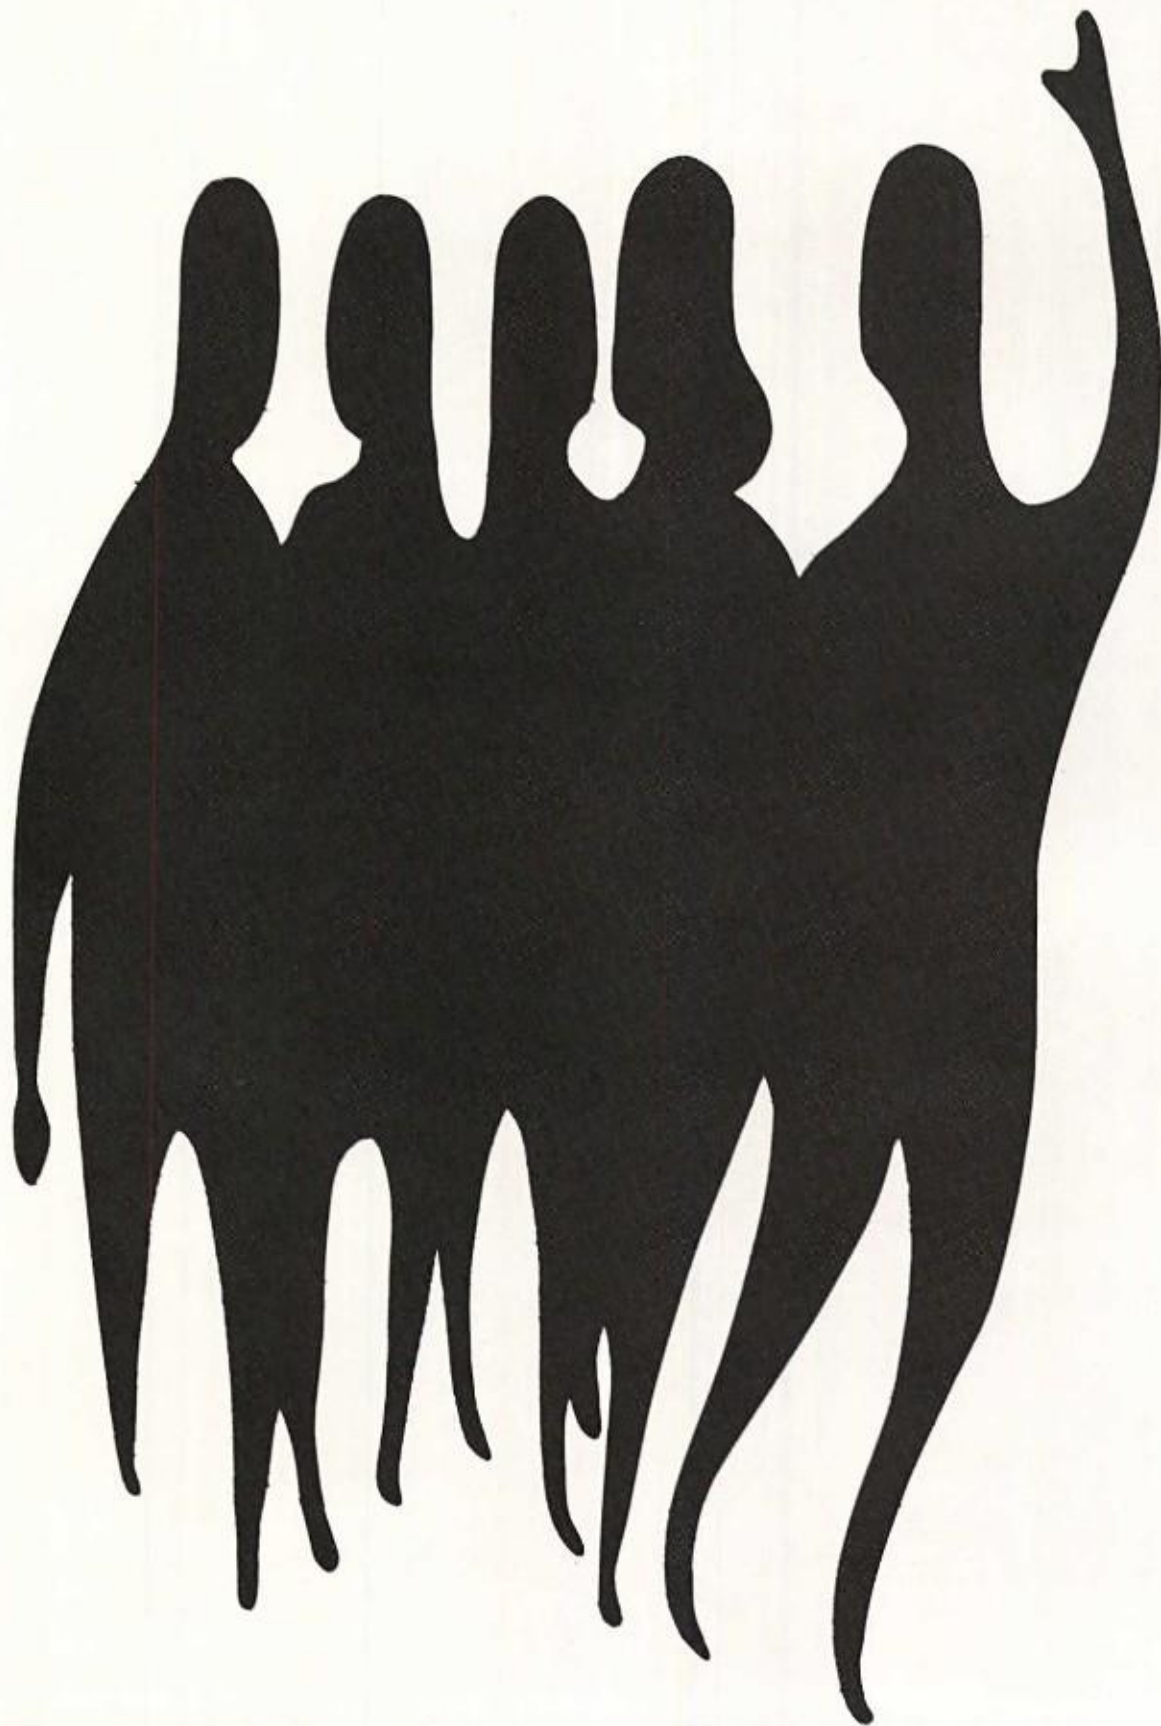

Driving buses is another important phase in the custodians' work. Drivers are extremely particular in exercising safety precautions at all times.

Cooking staff members are another important phase of this system. Meals are carefully planned to insure students of a well-balanced but delicious lunch. The "short line" is another convenience students enjoy. Hotdogs, hamburgers, barbecues, cakes, pies, cookies, milk, potato chips, and peanuts are all available.

Friendly Clerks, Good Service, Quality Goods

Mr. Davis patronizes one of the most popular barber shops in town, Jim and Carl's.

Are Commonplace Among Calumet Region Stores

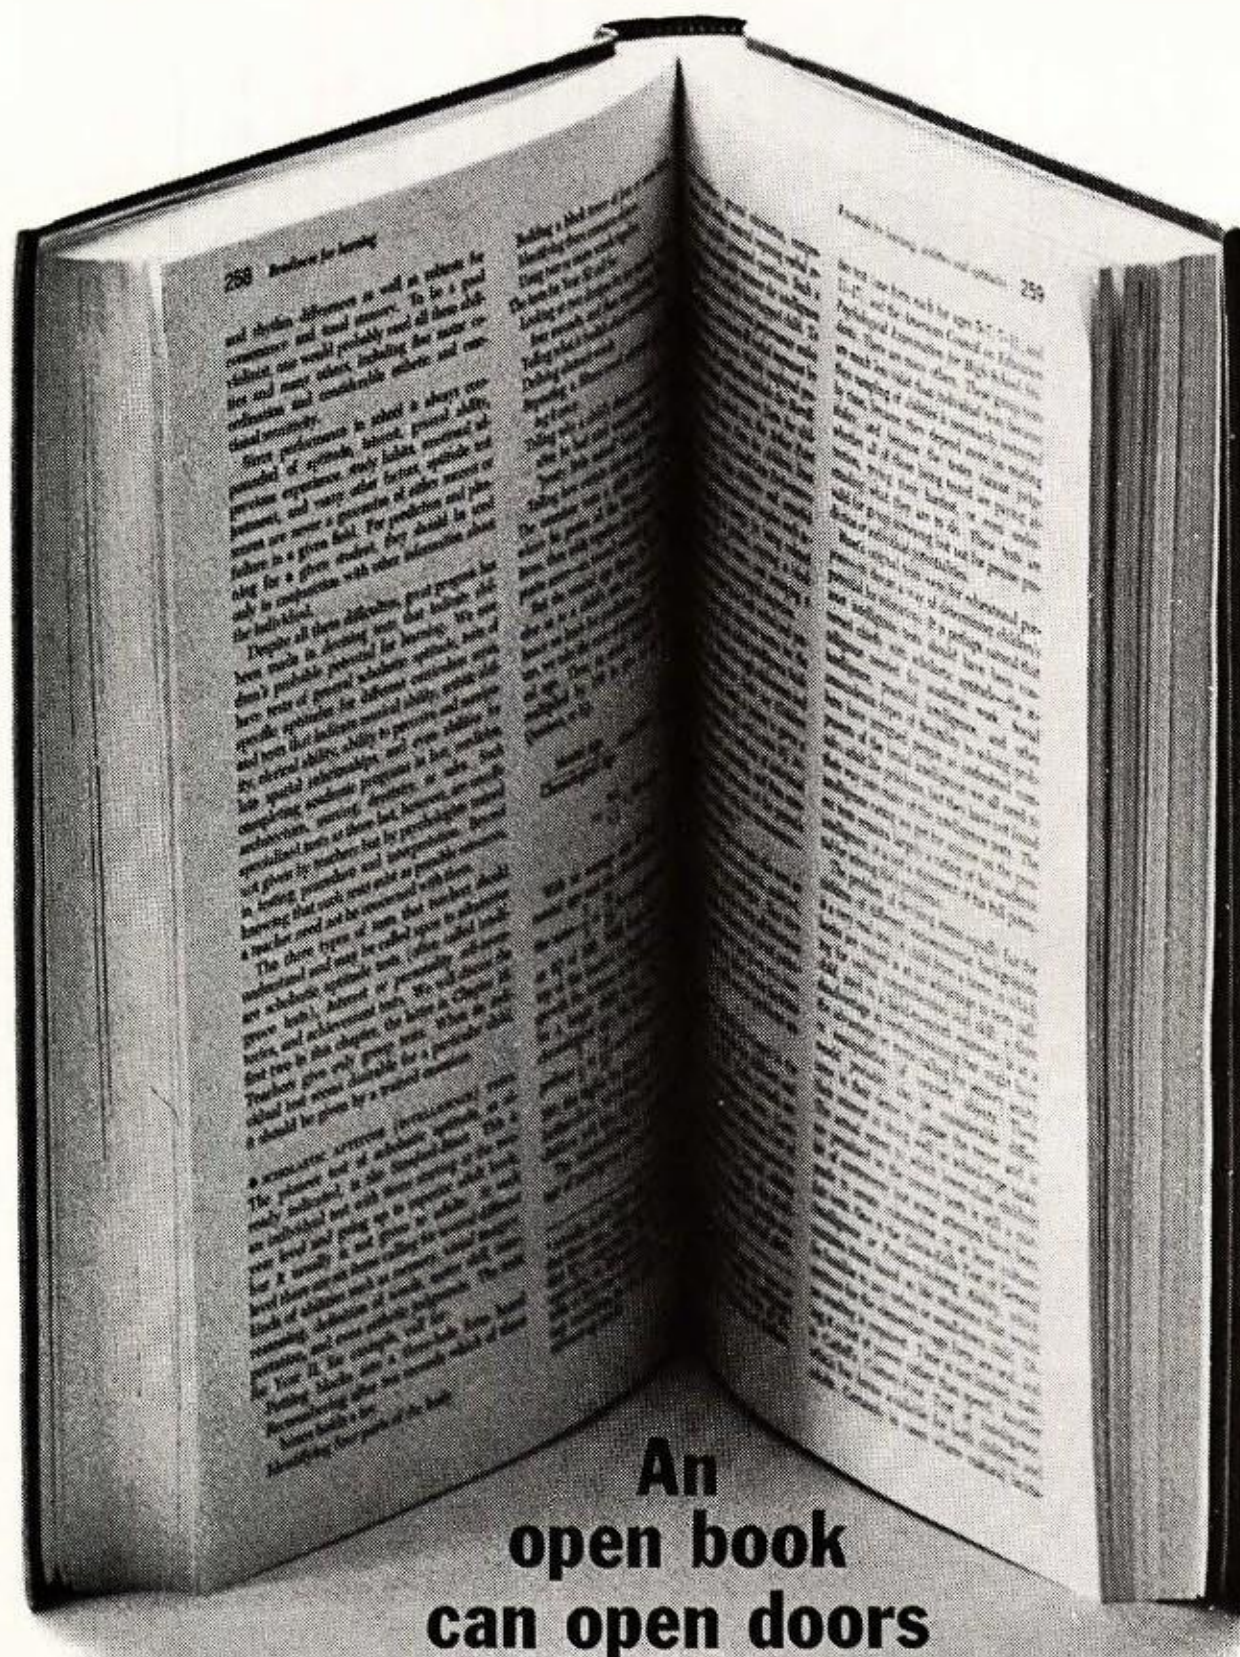

Scheeringa's is one of the many stores in the area which employs students from GHS.

Many of the needs of Griffith High students are fulfilled each year by the Calumet merchants. Friendly clerks and good service and merchandise are commonplace in the places of business of Griffith merchants.

Griffith students continue to patronize local merchants long after they have graduated from high school.

Mrs. Josephine Mattox has her hair done by Charles.

An open book can open doors

In our recruiting we ask that applicants have completed their High School education. That's because we try always to fill higher, more responsible jobs from the ranks of our employees. And the records show—the better the employee's education, the better he is at his job—and the better he does for himself.

Inland employees continue to gain knowledge and experience in special trades through formal apprenticeship programs offered in the following trades—Machinist, Patternmaking, Boilermaking, Welding, Shop Electrician, Wireman, Mason and Pipefitter.

Many concentrate on certain phases of steelmaking by working in production while others work in laboratories helping to assure quality or developing new and better products for our customers.

How about you? Inland Steel is steadily expanding. More and more opportunities will be open to you as our growth continues. Are you ready?

Hard Work By Staff With Help Of Many

Produces 1966 Edition

Griffith High's 1966 Reflector was published by many persons and no one person acting alone. The book was once again printed by American Yearbook Company in Hannibal, Missouri. Mr. Robert Hastings, representative from the company, helped greatly in choice of the cover design and the colors.

The Reflector was printed on 100 pound enamel paper. Spartan type makes up the body copy of the book which is 10-point type, and the cutlines consist of 8-point type. Lydian and Dom Casual were the type faces used for the headlines. 24-point Lydian was used on all pages except division and theme pages where 36-point Dom Casual was used to give variety to the sections.

Walinger Studio is responsible for the pictures in the book, especially Dick Dickus who helped the staff enormously in coming up with ideas for them.

Another debt of gratitude is extended to Mr. Scheely for all his help, Mr. Davis for his assistance in obtaining permission for us to take pictures in the gym and auditorium, the secretaries especially Mrs. Grace Ashmore for keeping the account, and Mrs. Evelyn Downing for running things off in the audio-visual room.

A special thanks is extended to all classroom teachers for their patience in letting staff members and other students out of class in order to take pictures, and work on deadlines.

Last but not least, all parents that helped us in producing the book are thanked by all the staff members and Mr. Woodring, adviser.

Memories Reviewed As 1966 Reflector Comes To Close

"Satisfaction is the reward of hard work." No one else will ever know the joy of seeing one's work put together and really turn out as something—not just a picture with copy A as a cutline and pasted on page 42. Now it all is put away for next year's staff—broken pica rulers, malfunctioning proportion scales, and grease pencils which always break at the wrong times.

I'll never be able to thank everyone for all the help and cooperation they gave me, especially my staff and Mr. Jerry Woodring, my adviser. A special thanks to my parents and everyone else who helped in keeping cold dinners warm and coffee perking for those late hours we kept just before the deadline.

May all those who leaf through this book today and in years to come find it as satisfying and full of memories as I do.
